DEFINITELY BREAKS ANY POSSIBLE LaFOLLETTE DEADLOCK PROPOSITION

Coolidge 379 Electoral Votes, Davis 139 and La Follette 13
Will Probably Be Standing of the Presidential Candidates

Missouri, After a Night of Doubt and Uncertainty, at Length Switches Safely Into the Republican Fold This Morning

By ROBERT J. BENDER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Nov. 5.—Coolidge, 379; Davis, 139; La Follette, 13.

With the possible exception of the switch of New Mexico's three votes from Davis to Coolidge, this will be the standing of the presidential candidates in the electoral college when final tabulations are in.

New Mexico, where the count always is slow, is waging a strong fight against "Fall rule," and the stigma imposed upon former Secretary of Interior Fall by the oil scandal, was expected on the face of early returns to defeat President Coolidge in the state.

Of the other doubtful commonwealths Missouri turned definitely into the Coolidge column today after wavering throughout the night and in Montana, where Senator LaFollette was making a strong fight for the electoral vote, today's tabulation showed a steadily increasing margin for President Coolidge.

With the presidency settled, chief interest centered in the makeup of the new congress. The house is assuredly safe in the hands of Coolidge with material republican gains, three of them in Davis' home state of West Virginia.

The Senate, however, is still in doubt.

FORMER BRAINERD MAN IS GOVERNOR

ROLAND HARTLEY NEW EXECUTIVE OF WASHINGTON STATE

A telegram received by R. R. Wise from a personal friend in Washington states that Roland Hartley of Everett, Wash., has been elected governor of that state by a two to one vote.

Roland Hartley is a cousin of R. J. Hartley of this city, and is a former Brainerd citizen, having begun here the career that has thus far progressed to the office of chief executive of our great sister state on the Pacific coast.

He was at one time clerk at the old Commercial Hotel, later in the grocery and lumbering businesses. He married the only daughter of David Clough, and after the election of Mr. Clough to the governorship of Minnesota, he held for a couple of terms the important position of private secretary to the governor.

Later he removed to the state of Washington, and further engaged in the lumber business.

After two unsuccessful efforts, he was elected governor as stated above, which is a fine record, showing the tenacity of purpose of our Minnesota raised boys.

BROOKHART MAY LOSE SEAT IN IOWA

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE STECK CONTINUES IN LEAD FOR TOGA

(By United Press)
Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 5.—Additional returns from outlying precincts of the state continued to show Daniel Steck, democrat, leading Senator Smith W. Brookhart in the race for the United States senatorship. Returns from 1,708 precincts out of 2,418 in the state gives Steck 299,165; Brookhart, 280,773.

PRES. COOLIDGE IS NEAR 50,000 LEADER OVER "BOB"

1,007 PRECINCTS GIVE COOLIDGE 176,763. LA FOLLETTE 145,476

THEODORE CHRISTIANSON VIRTUALLY CERTAIN OF GOVERNOR'S CHAIR

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Nov. 5.—Returns up to the noon hour in Minnesota are as follows:

For president 1,624 precincts give Coolidge 233,398; LaFollette 165,477; Davis 33,286.

For governor 1,748 precincts give Christianson 259,898; Olson 219,800.

For senator 1,436 precincts give Thomas D. Schall 187,701 and Magnus Johnson 175,307.

St. Paul, Nov. 5.—President Coolidge was nearing his estimated 50,000 lead over Senator LaFollette in Minnesota today as returns trickled in from smaller counties.

The vote in 1,007 precincts out of 3,607 in the state stood: Coolidge, 176,763; LaFollette, 145,476; and Davis, 23,990.

This was believed to represent considerably more than one-third of the total vote cast.

Theodore Christianson was virtually certain of the governor's chair as republican candidate he held a heavy lead over Floyd Olson, his farmer-labor opponent, at noon.

Magnus Johnson and Thomas D. Schall were running a tight race for United States senator, with J. J. Farrell, democrat, out of it.

While republican headquarters claimed Schall's election, farmer-labor leaders here were just as confident their man would be retained in office. He took the seat of the late Knute Nelson a year and a half ago on a special election.

The vote in 917 precincts for senator: Schall, 131,876; Johnson, 116,115; Farrell, 19,089.

Theodore Christianson, republican, was gaining in almost every precinct reporting on the governorship today. Floyd Olson, farmer-labor opponent, was more than 30,000 behind the Dawson publisher at noon. With 923 precincts counted the vote stood: Christianson, 146,437; Olson, 114,881; Avery, democrat, 16,088.

The remainder of the republican state ticket apparently rode into office with the Coolidge drift more easily than will Christianson or Schall if they get there.

W. I. Nolan apparently was elected lieutenant-governor by a substantial majority.

Mike Holm will continue in his office at the capitol as secretary of state.

State Treasurer Henry Rines was returned as state treasurer for his fifth term and Clifford L. Hilton likely will continue as attorney-general.

Fred W. Mattson apparently was re-elected state railroad and warehouse commissioner.

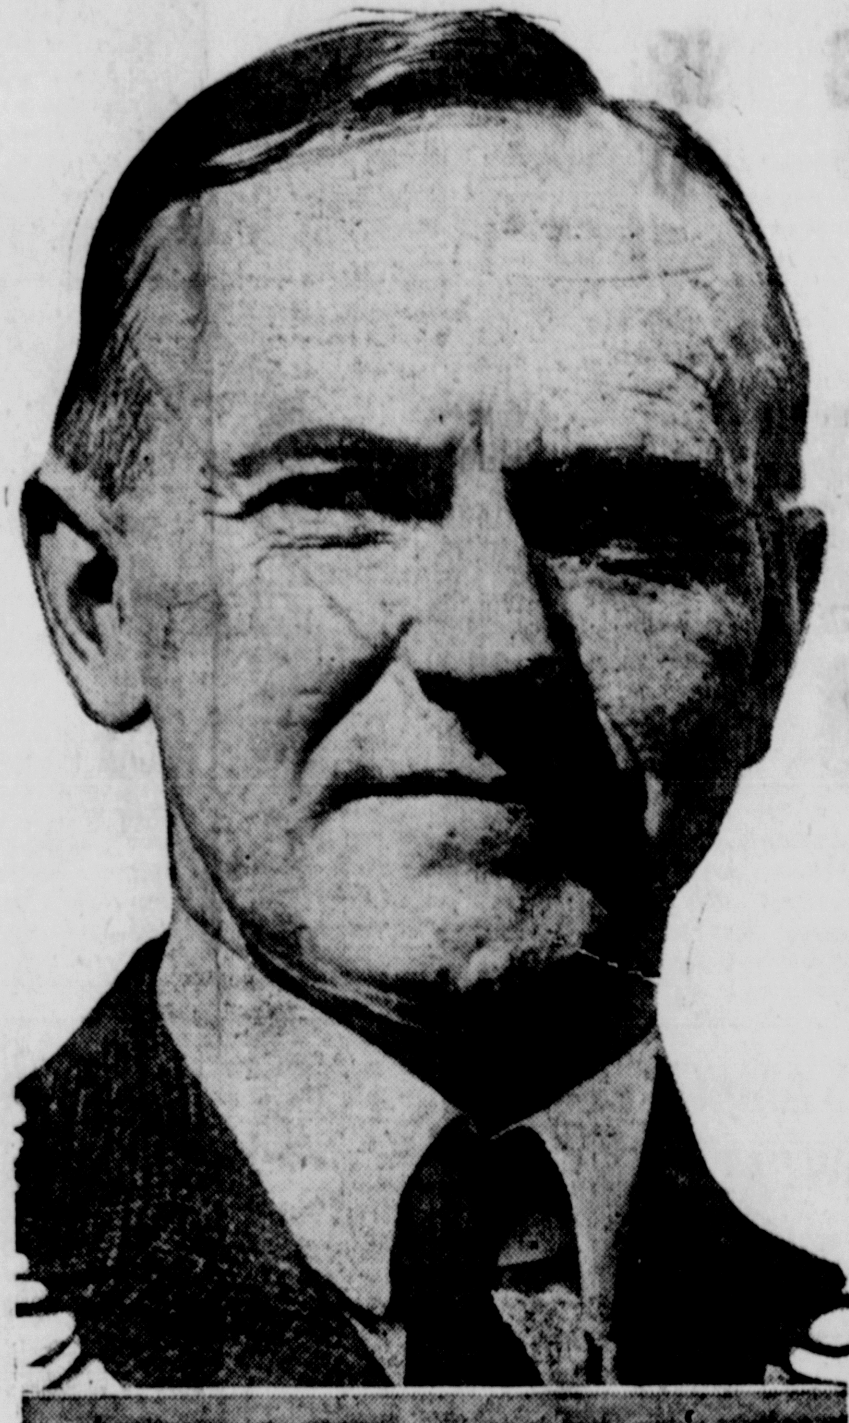

Samuel B. Wilson won the robes of chief justice of the supreme court and Andrew Holt and Royal A. Stone were named associate justices.

Eight republican congressmen will represent Minnesota in Washington, unless last-minute returns completely upset present totals.

Those apparently winners are:

First District—Allen J. Furlow.

Second District—Congressman Frank Clague.

Calvin Coolidge

Theodore Christianson
Leading for Governor

Third District—August H. Anderson.

Fourth District—Congressman Oscar E. Keller.

Fifth District—Congressman Walter H. Newton.

Sixth District—Congressman Harold Knutson.

Seventh District—Congressman O. J. Kvale.

Eighth District—Victor L. Power (some doubt).

Ninth District—Knute Wefald.

Tenth District—Godfrey S. Goodwin.

Three important amendments to the state constitution likely carried. They are the gasoline tax proposal providing that a gasoline tax, if collected, shall be applied to good roads instead of going into the general revenue fund; the re-forestation measure, providing tax exemption for re-forested timberlands; and the amendment providing forest fire funds.

The farmer-labor proposal for an amendment to allow the state to purchase and operate terminal elevators at the Twin Cities probably was defeated.

The village charters amendment also likely fell by the wayside. It was designed to aid smaller communities.

While the makeup of the next legislature has not been determined owing to slow tabulations, reports from a large number of districts indicate the house will show few changes in the lineup of last session. Incumbents who are candidates for re-election were winners in most cases.

In the special election of a state senator from St. Paul, forty-first district, Peter J. Memmer surprised the dopesters and beat out a field of five. He will take the seat of the late Martin J. Conroy.

COOLIDGE WAVE EXCEEDS REPUBLICAN OPTIMISTIC HOPES

(By United Press)

New York, Nov. 5.—A Coolidge wave was promised to roll into office today an out-and-out republican majority of both houses of congress—a thing unexpected even by the most optimistic republicans.

The chief executive, with his mounting ballot majority, had apparently pulled over a dozen democratic chairs in the house of representatives and handing them to his own republicans.

In the Senate two democratic seats were apparently lost and three more rocked near destruction.

If the candidates leading at 8 a. m. by slender majorities prevail, the republicans will be able to control the LaFollette balance of power in both houses next session with several votes to spare.

This means Mr. Coolidge will be able to put through his administrative and legislative plans over all opposition and that he will not suffer a congress as unruly as the present one, which ditched his favorite measures and replaced them with their own.

Coolidge Increases Lead in So. Dak.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Nov. 5.—With the South Dakota vote half in, Coolidge had increased his lead to 17,000 late today.

will carry Minnesota and its 12 electoral votes by a comfortable margin, returns early today indicated.

There was a possibility that Coolidge would carry along with him Tom Schall for United States senator and Theodore Christianson for governor.

The contest between Schall, republican, and Magnus Johnson, farmer-laborite, and between Christianson, republican, and Floyd B. Olson, farmer-laborite, was very close, however. Schall and Christianson were leading with prospects that their votes would be cut down in the country.

With more than one-fourth of the total votes counted for president, the standing in 827 precincts out of 3,607 in the state for president was: Coolidge, 124,267; LaFollette, 90,244; Davis, 17,812.

GAINS CLEAR WORKING MAJORITY IN BOTH CONGRESS HOUSES

Scope of Victory Continues to Grow as the Returns Pour in on Every Side; States of Missouri, Montana, Nevada and New Mexico in Doubt

By ROBERT J. BENDER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Nov. 5.—President Coolidge has swept the country for re-election and according to United Press returns at an early hour today he has taken with him to Washington a clear working majority in both houses of Congress.

The scope of his victory, as told in definite indications, is that at least 30 states, with a total electoral vote of 354, are in the Coolidge column, while John W. Davis appeared to have captured but 13 southern states, including Tennessee, for a total of 136.

HOW CROW WING COUNTY BEHAVED IN THE ELECTION

PRECINCTS RECORDED WITH CROSBY UNOFFICIALLY HEARD FROM

GIVE LEAD TO COOLIDGE, SCHALL, CHRISTIANSON, NOLAN

Crow Wing county has 52 precincts and the complete unofficial returns have not been received. Precincts mentioned in the issue of the Brainerd Dispatch coupled with those of Crosby foreshadow leads for Coolidge, Schall, Christianson and Nolan.

Compilation of 33 precincts, (Crosby has not yet been received but unofficial totals are known), gave Coolidge 2,855, LaFollette 2,860.

These same 33 precincts gave Schall 2,623, Johnson 3,104 for the senatorship.

For governor with 33 precincts compiled gave Christianson 2,646 and Olson 3,011.

For lieutenant governor, Nolan, 2,606, Holmes, 2,798.

Secretary of state, Mike Holm, 3,016, Stageberg 2,645.

Treasurer, Rines, 2,692, Berg, 2,714.

Attorney general, Hilton, 2,689, Sullivan, 2,999.

Railroad and warehouse commission, Matson, 2,586, Smith, 3,050.

Chief Justice, Johnson, 2,086, Wilson, 2,380.

Associate Justice, Anderson, 1,857, Frazer, 1,886, Holt, 1,608, Stone, 1,756.

The race between Harold Knutson and S. C. Shipstead for congress was a close one in this county and final figures are needed. The general impression is that Knutson will nose out a victory in the county.

For representative-at-large, Edward P. Scallon has undoubtedly been re-elected, so far as Crow Wing county is concerned.

P. J. Long appears to have been re-elected representative of the county.

For judge of probate the contest waged close for a long period and it is believed complete figures will be necessary to make victory for either certain. Thirty-one out of 52 precincts give Kinder 2,377 and Alderman 2,108.

It will take complete returns to ascertain the fate of the state's five amendments.

Totals have not been compiled for county commissioner vote.

As to high school site, the only precincts heard from are the first and second of the third ward. These give 1,065 for block 82, and 61 for block 129, and 171 votes against both sites, with 90 spoiled ballots recorded.

A noticeable thing about the election in Brainerd was the intense interest shown by the women. They were also patriotic in election board

Senator LaFollette had such a lead in Wisconsin on the basis of convincing returns early today that his home state's 13 electoral votes seemed to be safely his.

There remained in doubt Missouri, Montana, Nevada and New Mexico—a total of 28 electoral votes, all of which appear likely to go into the Coolidge column.

Great as were Coolidge's pluralities however, he was unable to prevent the victories of two popular democratic state executives—Governor Al Smith of New York and Governor Vile Donahay of Ohio. Coolidge failed to get the large majority given Warren G. Harding in New York four years ago but it was an overwhelming victory nevertheless in the Empire state and that Smith should be elected by nearly 200,000 majority despite it testifies to the latter's tremendous popularity.

Donahay's re-election despite Coolidge's sweep in Ohio was less imposing but equally striking.

In states where democrats and independents sought to make the Ku Klux Klan an issue they were beaten with apparently but one exception. Texas, according to late returns, has elected "Ma" Ferguson governor. She made her campaign against the Klan. The fate of Ed Jackson, republican candidate for governor in Indiana, was somewhat in doubt. Jackson was defined as the Klan candidate during the Hoosier campaign.

On the face of tabulations early today there were two flops in normally democratic states that demonstrated the fickleness of politics. Four years ago Tennessee shattered faith with her party when she dropped her 12 electoral votes into the arms of Harding. The same year Kentucky, after a brief experiment with republicanism, returned to the democratic fold, her vote going to Cox. Yesterday, however, both states reversed themselves again. Tennessee returning to the democratic column, while Kentucky went over to Coolidge.

Missouri lived up to its reputation of always being in doubt by careening first to LaFollette and then to Davis throughout the night.

The LaFollette vote was a disappointment to his friends. He did, however, poll a large popular vote and appeared to have won second honors in California, Iowa, Minnesota, Colorado, North and South Dakota, Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana and he ran strongly in Illinois, Michigan and Ohio.

KANSAS CITY LAYS PLANS FOR "BIGGEST EVER" STOCK SHOW

(By United Press)
Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 4.—One-half million dollars' worth of the world's best pure-bred livestock will be on exhibition here at the American Royal livestock show and exposition, November 15 to 22.

Visitors from all parts of the United States are expected to take advantage of the reduced railroad rates to Kansas City and spend some of their good money for tickets or gasoline. Stock lovers are admonished by the directors of the show to have a little of their betting money. Pulling pony and pulling horse contests to be staged during the show are apt to give a rise to the gaming instincts of even the most reserved, the directors assert. "Besides," said E. F. Swinney, president of the American Royal Livestock Show, "you get your money's worth even if you lose."

The moot question of whether a good big span of farm horses can outpull a big fat and well-groomed span of city transfer or ice wagon horses will be settled once and for all. Visitors will see a pair of fine draft horses hitched to eighteen tons of hay—they will get to see what moves, if anything. Some believe a pair of horses will be here that will move a nineteen-ton load of hay on the straightaway.

Not only will there be heavy horses here, but those built for speed and the 1925 models, the latest thing out, in three and five gaited saddle horses, fancy drivers and riders, and harness ponies, Cowboy riding stunts will be thrown in for good measure.

Kansas City's mounted police will compete for prizes in the mounted police show. Prizes won by the mounted law will go to fill the stockings of many a policeman's little boy or girl on Christmas.

More than $80,000 cash prizes and a score of silver trophies will be awarded to the nation's finest livestock during American Royal week.

Entries of cattle, horses, mules, hogs, sheep, dogs, cats and poultry, 3,000 in all, will come from thirty-eight states and Canada. For the most part entries are from the most noted herds, studs, flocks and kennels of the country.

Arrangements have been made to handle 40,000 people daily at the American Royal building. Fourteen acres of floor space has been provided to take care of 5,000 motor cars.

The grand champion of each breed of livestock will be selected by a popular vote of the visitors.

The pig club exhibits will be made up of fat barrows of the bacon and lard type and in quality will more than make up, officials say, for any slight decrease in the number of animals exhibited. Some of the best ton litters raised by junior club members will be exhibited.

An increase of 30 per cent is expected in the fat lamb section. More boys and girls enrolled in sheep club work this year than ever before. Juniors in a dozen counties have qualified to exhibit lamb trios, a new feature this year.

The fat poultry show organized in 1923 will be twice as large as last year. Cash premiums, medals and various trophies will be awarded exhibitors of the ten best cockerels, the five best young ducks, and the three best turkeys, and three best geese.

Wednesday, Nov. 12th, will be judging day and will culminate with a banquet at night for the club members, with St. Paul Association officials as hosts. The auction sale of livestock will be held Nov. 13th.

Reduced railroad rates on the certificate plan of a fare and one-half for the round trip have been granted by all lines leading to the twin cities.

New Owner Was Formerly Manager of Dykeman Hotel in Minneapolis

Albert Burns, Bemidji hotel man, has purchased the New Brainerd hotel, formerly the Harrison hotel, from J. A. Jones, and will take possession on next Monday, November 10th.

The new owner is said to be a hotel man of wide experience. He was at one time manager of the Dykeman hotel, Minneapolis, and recently owned an interest in the New Bemidji hotel.

Mr. Jones came to Brainerd some four months ago from Aitkin, where he successfully conducted the Foley and Willard hotels. His reputation as a first-class hotel keeper followed him to Brainerd, and he has enjoyed a very heavy patronage in this city.

During Mr. Jones' short ownership of the New Brainerd hotel he has increased its capacity by twenty-four rooms, making a total of 76. Many of these rooms are equipped with running water and telephone, others have a bath in addition to these conveniences.

Mr. Jones is very well satisfied with the patronage received in Brainerd, and bespeaks the same support for his successor. Mr. Burns will endeavor to follow out the policies of his predecessor and will give the public the best of service at all times.

Paper Rooms In Yellow and Red and Save Yourself Big Coal Bills

(By United Press)
Boston, Nov. 5.—If the coal bill seems a bit large this winter, paper your living rooms in yellow.

"Yellow, with a touch of warm red, is the warmest wall paper you can get," declares Dr. F. A. Woll, professor of hygiene at the College of the City of New York and a recognized authority on vision.

Lecturing at the New England Optometric Convention here, Dr. Woll asserted that yellow wall paper "will make the room it covers feel snug and warm."

"No matter what the temperature is," he said, "apartments will feel cold and chilly if papered in blue."

"Of all the colors in the spectrum, red is the most irritating to the nervous system. Dark green is depressing, but yellow is restful and makes for content."

"If the room appears warm and sunny—yellow will do it—and is well lighted, it will feel warm and sunny, even though the temperature may be low."

The influence of color on women, Dr. Woll said, is very important, and often the wrong colored wall paper may be responsible as much as anything else for the bumpy trip over the road that leads to the divorce court.

"It has been said that the right kind of wall paper may keep a woman out of the divorce court," he remarked.

"Whether that is true or not, it nevertheless is a truth that women are constructed on such a high nervous tension that what they see greatly affects them."

"No woman can meet her husband with a smile when he comes home at night with a frown on, if she has been forced to spend the whole day in an ill lighted kitchen papered in red, green or blue."

"One sunny tempered woman began to scowl at her husband because the wall paper in her room 'was laid on the bias.'"

"I thought it was you," she eagerly confessed to her husband when she discovered her mistake."

"Yellow—with a touch of warm red—is the warmest paper you can get," Dr. Woll insisted.

Son to Be Proud Of

An old lady's son was working in the city. The youth, being very dutiful, sent his mother a telegram informing her of his success in passing an examination. "Good boy, my Clarence," she told a friend; "look how beautifully he has learned to typewrite lately."

Bathing by No Means a Universal Custom

In Japan we would learn what the Japanese idea of cleanliness is. In this quaint country of beautiful sunsets and colorful costumes people bathe twice daily. And there is no question that many of them have no convenient bathroom as we do. In China the family has a large stove which is used for a bed at night so they can keep warm.

Between this picturesque empire and India, separated by miles and miles of lonely country and ocean, a great change of customs would be seen. In these out-of-the-way places we find people living in mere hovels. They enjoy no running water systems and other conveniences as the most segregated parts of our country enjoy.

In India, where plagues continually cause the death of thousands of families, you will find towns that have no water and sewerage systems. You can see the Indian women balancing on their heads huge jars which they have filled with water drawn from the town well or the sluggish and muddy river.

From Calcutta to Bagdad, thence to Constantinople, you will see that bathing is considered only for the white man and the native aristocracy. On the deserts of Arabia, where water is necessarily used only for drinking, the desire to keep clean is accomplished in a rather "rough" manner. Instead of using water for the bath the Arab vigorously rubs himself with the sand of the desert.

Long and Short Lives in Scheme of Nature

One of the most wonderful things in Nature is the manner in which things are balanced up. The long-lived things propagate their species slowly; the short-lived, rapidly. For instance, elephants, whales, tortoises and carp have been credited with lives of anything from four hundred years downward. And at the other end of the scale we find insects which have a life of hours only. Many theories have been put forward to account for these remarkable distinctions, but the one now most commonly accepted is that the slower the creature is in reaching full maturity and the less its powers of reproduction, the greater will be its average longevity or length of natural life. Nature's object in such an arrangement is fairly plain even to our limited human intelligence. For if such creatures as locusts, breeding with incredible rapidity, had themselves a life of centuries, the world would be within a little while impossible for other existence. And the same result would occur did an elephant with a life of perhaps a couple of hundred years, breed like a locust. In some way, which as yet we may not fully understand, the principle of Nature is to maintain a balance of power in our world.

Explorer's Ruling Passion

When Columbus landed for the first time in the New world he found the Indians, who greeted him "a very poor people." His friend, Las Casas, who wrote the abstract of the Journal of the First Voyage to America, gives the admiral's own account of his interview with the natives as follows: "I was very attentive to them and strove to learn if they had any gold. Seeing some of them with little bits of this metal hanging at their noses, I gathered from them by signs that by going southward or steering around the island in that direction there would be found a king who possessed large vessels of gold and in great quantities." The first thought, even of the man who had just discovered a new world, was of gold!—Youth's Companion.

Reference in Advance

The prospective maid of all work was stating her terms: "I want $15 a week paid in advance, and I don't wash nor scrub floors, nor—"

"But," began the mistress of the house feebly.

"Or work after six o'clock," went on the woman steadily, "and I want every evening off and a fine reference, and—"

"But surely the reference can wait till you leave us?" broke in the mistress, nervously.

"No, I want the letter now," returned the domestic firmly. "I've tried getting them when I leave, and I've never got a good one yet."—Minneapolis Tribune.

English at Home

"When I was cycling through England," writes R. B. W., "I started off one morning to ride from Clacton to St. Osyth. After a while I became uncertain about the road and meeting a laborer I inquired, 'Am I right for St. Osyth?' The man looked puzzled and said he never heard of any such place."

"A second wayfarer whom I asked was equally ignorant. Then came a third. This fellow scratched his head, but presently a look of comprehension dawned upon his face. 'Ay, to be sure. I have it now—It's Snosey ye mean!'" —New Haven Register.

College and University

The college has about the same relation to a university that a state has to the federal government—that is, as a rule, many colleges go to make a university. The term university, however, has been used loosely in the United States, sometimes applied to an institution offering non-professional instruction beyond the bachelor's degree and having affiliated professional schools.

To Speak On Law Enforcement

Dr. Ira Landrith, nationally renowned minister, chautauqua lecturer, college president, and editor, will deliver an address on "Law Enforcement" at the Methodist church, Brainerd, on Thursday evening, November 6th, at eight o'clock.

It is felt that no greater issue confronts the American people at the present time than that of law enforcement. Dr. Landrith says that it is no longer a question of "wet or dry," but of upholding the constitution. Nor is law enforcement merely a matter of concern to each local community; it is a national and world problem in which every community is interested.

The only way to secure effective enforcement of the Eighteenth amendment, says Dr. Landrith, is to extend prohibition around the world. The biggest menace to prohibition enforcement in America at the present time is rum-running on the border by land and sea, asserts the doctor.

Twain's Description of Missouri River Water

In one of his return trips to the state of his boyhood, Mark Twain wrote a friend he had found one thing that had not changed—the salubrious complexion of Missouri river water—and probably a score of centuries would not change it. "It comes out of the turbulent, bank-caving river," he explained, "and every thimbleful of it holds an acre of land in solution. I got this fact from the bishop of the diocese. If you will let your glass stand half an hour you can separate the land from the water as easy as Genesis, and then you will find them both good—the one to eat, the other to drink. The land is very nourishing, the water is thoroughly wholesome. The one appeases hunger, the other, thirst. But the natives do not take them separately, but together, as nature mixed them. When they find an inch of mud in the bottom of the glass, they stir it up and take a draft as they would gruel. It is difficult for the stranger to get used to this batter, but once used he will prefer it to water."—Pathfinder Magazine.

Opal Diggers Work Hard for Small Remuneration

Of all the rough "outback" jobs in Australia, digging for opal is about the worst. Coober Pedy lies in the heart of the Stewart range, 170 miles from the nearest station on the East-West railway, and its whole population of between 70 and 80 diggers lives underground in burrows scratched out of the hillside. A tin shanty, in which the diggers keep their tools, is the only sign of life showing above ground.

Every morning the diggers come out of their holes and set out for the opal fields, to cut patiently through the rock in the hope of finding the beautiful black diamonds lying beneath. Between them they have dug many thousands of dollars' worth of opal in the last four years, though they have worked only a small area of a field said to be 40 miles long. In normal times opal is worth about $15 an ounce, but now that there is practically no demand for the gems the diggers have opal, but no money.

Natural Pipe Line

While some workmen in Bath, Maine, were quarrying stone they uncovered at a depth of about twenty feet a water conduit about three feet wide and two feet high. The conduit was in a solid ledge and it is of uniform diameter its full length, 200 feet. The four sides are deeply corrugated, showing that at some time water ran through it at great pressure. It is one of the few of nature's pipe lines that have been exposed.—Scientific American.

Likewise, the strongest argument for extending prohibition around the world is its successful enforcement in America. All countries of the world are watching with keenest interest what they are pleased to term the "great experiment" in the way of prohibition in America.

Dr. Landrith will give the people of this community the very latest word relative to the progress of prohibition in America and round the world. He was for many years been one of the foremost speakers of the Anti-Saloon League of America and the World League against Alcoholism. He has been described as "A big man who does big things in a big way." His volleys of logic and striking epigrams make the champions of liquor literally tremble in their boots according to those who have heard him speak.

The lecture on Thursday evening at the Methodist church is free, and the public is urged to turn out in force to hear Dr. Landrith.

UNCLE SAM MAKES MONEY ON SEALSKINS

(By United Press)

Washington, Nov. 5.—The Department of Commerce has found that by simply using a different color dye in finishing sealskins from the Government owned Pribiloff Islands their value can be doubled.

At the annual sale at St. Louis in October, when $470,000 worth of skins were sold, 1,845 which had been dyed a rich chestnut brown brought $51.72 per skin, contrasted with $29.95 for those which were dyed the customary black.

The new dye is an American invention and the finishing of the skins was an experiment which has proved successful, according to Secretary Hoover. The process is known only to government chemists and the finishing was done at their direction.

The brown sealskin coat made from the government hides has made its appearance and is in great demand.

mand. It is likely that next year a larger proportion of the Pribiloff kill will be finished in the shade.

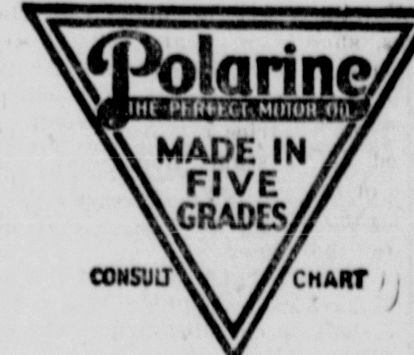

"Another feature of the recent sale," Secretary Hoover said, "was the offering 1,000 sealskins in salt. This was done to test out the assertion frequently made through the press and in Congress that the sale of raw undyed skins would bring larger net returns to the government than their sale in finished form. These raw skins realized an average of $7.90."

"The cost of dyeing and finishing skins is approximately $15.38 so that the net realization to the government from the sale of finished skins was $3.55 per skin higher than for those sold in raw state. This appears to me to answer forcibly the persistent agitation that skins should be sold in the salt."

"The number of skins that will be taken during the present season will be approximately 19,000. The seal-herd which is the property of the government shows a steady increase and is now estimated to be about 697,000, as compared to 132,000 when the government took control of the Pribiloff Islands."

OUR TUBERCULOSIS SANATORIUM

DR. J. K. ANDERSON, superintendent in charge of the Deerwood sanatorium, recently gave out much information concerning the institution in an address delivered in Brainerd. The sanatorium was opened in 1918. It is an institution for the treatment of tuberculosis in all its forms, with special reference to lung disease. It serves two counties, Crow Wing and Aitkin, and the expenses are divided, Crow Wing paying 68 per cent of the monthly deficit and Aitkin the balance, or 38 per cent.

Financial aid is received from the state to the extent of $5 per week for each free case from the two counties. The state built the buildings and the maintenance is provided by the two counties.

When conditions permit, cases are taken from outside counties, but not outside of the state. These cases are paid for by the county from which they come or private cases from our own counties when able pay $10 per week. But in the last two years over 60 per cent of the cases have been on the free list. Hence from a financial standpoint there is always a deficit as the net cost per patient for this year has averaged $2.20 per day and the most that is paid by outside cases is $1.75 per day and $1.43 from our own, and most of these pay nothing.

We have 24 available beds, said the doctor continuing his address to the Rotarians, and at present all but one are filled. You can well see what a small percentage of the tuberculosis cases of the two counties this would care for with an estimated population of 50,000 and the death rate from the disease about 97 per 100,000 of population, or about 48 per year and we should have one available bed for each annual death. By these figures I do not mean to convey the idea that we have a large waiting list, but there are no doubt many cases in the counties that should be in the sanatorium and in fact I know of several. This is one of our problems, getting the case into the sanatorium after definite diagnosis has been made even after the sputum is swarming with germs.

The average person has the idea that the sanatorium is a place to go to die rather than to get well. The very word sanatorium means a place to get well in. A sanatorium on the other hand is a place to go to keep from getting sick and another difference is usually about $20 per week. The two words have different derivations.

Dr. Anderson's talk was a most illuminating one and of real value to all who heard or who may read this reference made to his address. The appeal made for radio equipment to aid the shut-ins at the hospital has given the institution much publicity.

PEACE MORE THRILLING THAN WAR

"PEACE is more thrilling than war," says Private Peat in an article in the November Rotarian. His first book entitled "Private Peat" embodied his war experiences of two years. His next book was on peace and he lectured on the subject on three continents before it was put on paper.

The committing of the idea to paper was comparatively easy as was the committing to paper of the experiences of war, but the facts of peace were harder to get than the facts of war. "And I found this," continues the writer, "Peace is more thrilling than war."

"There is more romance in a day of Peace than in a year of war. In five years research on the subject of Peace, I have found that people know little about it. They do not notice Peace. And they do not love Peace. People pretend to love it, but it is to war that their enthusiasm is given. When people come to express thanks to a hero it is the peace hero who is forgotten and the war hero who is immortalized. The heroes of Peace are forgotten in song, in story, and in history. Their monuments are scattered and few."

"The greatest book has not yet been written. It will be the story of Peace, and the author will be an immortal of immortals. The story of Peace would be a history of the world it has been said to me. It would be so. The true history. The histories of today are stories of wars and victories, camouflaged with glory, and made to glitter with adventure. Peace is a force of such grandeur that no tinsel glitter will be needed to portray its perfection."

A WIDESPREAD REPUBLICAN VICTORY

As the returns pour in, the Republican victory continues to assume larger proportions. The threat of a Congress antagonistic to the President has been removed and Coolidge is now assured a working majority to back his efforts. In addition, the danger of a La Follette deadlock in Congress has also been removed.

Minnesota seems fairly launched back in the Republican column. An immense vote was polled in Minnesota, and for that matter, throughout the nation at large. It shows that a minority party has little chance of success when the nation is aroused to its duty to attend the polls.

ONE PLACE DIDN'T VOTE

ALL the injunctions to turn out and vote fell on deaf ears in one place. Nobody paid any attention to the clarion call to vote. That was in the District of Columbia, the seat of the nation's government.

Ballot boxes, locked ones, were placed at various points in the city by civic organizations and each box bore this legend: "All citizens of the United States are voting today except citizens of the District of Columbia. Ballot boxes closed."

MOVIE ENGINEERING

WHEN the public desires pictures of great floods, and other cataclysms, the movies respond and it has given birth to a new profession, that of "movie engineering."

The engineer creates shipwrecks, train wrecks, and other disasters. In many cases toy models are used. Some things are done on a minute scale for large pictorial results, while others are done in reality, on such a large scale that it is impossible to tell which is which.

Plea for Statues of Creations of Authors

The citizens of Auch, the ancient capital of Gascony, have decided to erect a statue to D'Artagnan, hero of Alexandre Dumas' "The Three Musketeers" and "Twenty Years After."

In reality, of course, it is much more than a statue to D'Artagnan, who never existed for the world until Dumas called him into being. It is more than a statue to Charles de Batz de Castelnau, the original of Dumas' hero, who was born not far from Auch. It is really a statue to Dumas and the human imagination.

Everything that has made D'Artagnan memorable and international came from a great maker of romances—D'Artagnan is one of the many creations of poets and writers that have become more real than real men.

It is always a fine thing to see recognition of such, the New York Sun comments. There might even be more statues to great characters of literature and fewer statues to little characters of "real" life. While there is no harm in remembering a man who leaves a fountain or a park to a village, the men who have left Odysseus, Hamlet, Falstaff, Faust, Jean Valjean and Natty Bumppo are, after all, the more deserving.

Refused to "Fall" for Bishop's Second Scheme

A western minister tells a story, according to the Kansas City Star, showing how a bishop, accosted in a Chicago street by a neat but hungry stranger, derived profit from the encounter.

Now the bishop took a fancy to the needy one, took him to a hotel and shared a good dinner with him. Yet, having left his episcopal wallet in the pocket of a different episcopal jacket, he suddenly faced the embarrassment of not having the wherewithal to pay for the dinner.

"Never mind," exclaimed the guest. "I have enjoyed dining with you, and I shall be charmed to pay the price. Allow me."

And the stranger paid for the two. This worried the prelate, who insisted:

"Just let me call a taxi and we'll run up to my place, where I shall have the pleasure of reimbursing you." But the stranger met the suggestion with:

"See here, old man! You've stuck me for a bully good dinner, but hanged if I am going to let you stick me for taxi fare!"

Ebony Mentioned in Bible

The deep black heartwood, which is most highly prized in a number of trees of the ebony family, is mentioned in the Bible in Ezekiel 27:15, in connection with ivory, probably on account of their value and of their contrasting colors. Ebony was once supposed to grow in the ground "without root or leaves" and it was ascribed many miraculous powers. The chief source of the ebony wood is the Island of Ceylon, where huge logs of the pure heartwood are cut and hauled to the coast. For interior decorations and furniture ebony has been superseded by rosewood and mahogany, but for cabinet work it is still widely employed, being exported from Madagascar, Jamaica, India and Egypt. A species of the ebony tree which is used as a veneer also grows in the southern United States.—Washington Star.

Modern Noah's Ark

Barro Colorado island was formed when the valleys about it were flooded by the impounding of the waters of the Chagres river to form Gatun lake, says the Detroit News. It resembles Noah's ark in that there gathered at the waters rose nearly every form of animal life in the vicinity, seeking escape from the rising flood.

Despite that it is only two miles from the Panama river, it has been found to harbor amphibians of new and strange habits as yet unstudied and innumerable species of insects never described, as well as many strange and exotic plants, numbering 2,000 or more. It abounds with anteaters, sloths, armadillos, peccaries, tapir, agoutis, coatis, the ocelot, the jaguar, many species of bat, monkeys of various kinds and the famous black howlers.

Cameo Cutting Hard Work

Much skill is exercised by the expert cameo cutter. He can only work at his task for a few hours at a time, because of nerve strain. A quivering hand may be responsible for the single stroke which will spoil a week's work. He must have an eye like a microscope, and a very delicate touch; he must be an artist in soul, and as skillful a craftsman as is a watchmaker; he must know how to model and draw, and he must have a knowledge of chemistry, so as to remove offending spots. The work is executed in relief on many kinds of hard or precious stones, but especially the chalcidonic variety of quartz and on shells.

Worse Than Devil's Island

Easter island in the South Pacific is about the most undesirable place on earth for human habitation. No trees grow on the island because it lacks water and no birds will live there on account of their being no worms. The island is irregular in shape, being twelve miles by nine, by seven, and is very seldom visited by ships. Two hundred Polynesians inhabit it, and they suffer continually from hunger. It was first sighted in 1683. It was explored in 1722 and the island then had 4,000 inhabitants.—Scientific American.

Earliest Accounts of Trade Among Nations

From the time that men began to live in cities, trade, in some shape, must have been carried on to supply the town-dwellers with necessities; but it is also clear that international trade must have existed, and affected to some extent even the pastoral nomadic races, for we find that Abraham was rich, not only in cattle, but in silver, gold, and gold and silver plate and ornaments (Gen. 13:2; 24:22, 53). Among trading nations mentioned in Scripture, Egypt holds in very early times a prominent position, though her external trade was carried on, not by her own citizens, but by foreigners—chiefly of the nomadic races. The internal trade of the Jews, as well as the external, was much promoted, as was the case also in Egypt, by the festivals, which brought large numbers of persons to Jerusalem, and caused great outlay in victims for sacrifice and in incense (1 Kings 8:63). The places of public market were, then as now, chiefly the open spaces near the gates, to which goods were brought for sale by those who came from the outside (Neh. 13:15, 16; Zech. 1:10). The traders in later times were allowed to intrude into the temple, in the outer courts of which victims were publicly sold for the sacrifices. (Zech. 14:21; Matt. 21:12; John 2:14).

Loaded Shells Spelled Doom of Shot Towers

Until the loaded shotgun shell was developed shot was sold to the jobbing trade throughout the entire country, packed in bags, which in turn were purchased by the man having a muzzle-loading shotgun, who was obliged to reload his gun with powder and shot whenever the gun was fired at game or target, says the Detroit News. The loaded shot shell and the breech-loading shotgun sounded the death knell of the old type of shot tower.

The business of the ammunition concerns manufacturing shot shells grew by leaps and bounds so that the shot consumption of the country centered at the points where these shot shells were manufactured, notably in New England, and in the course of events these ammunition concerns began to manufacture their own shot, thus completely destroying the business of the many shot towers located throughout the country.

Picturesque Whitby Abbey

Other of the ruined churches of England have a more picturesque magnificence, but none a more ancient fame than Whitby abbey, Henri Pickard writes in the Cincinnati Enquirer. There the first rude poetry of England was written more than twelve centuries ago. There, earlier still, was held the synod which decided that the British church should keep Easter at the same time as the rest of Christendom, a choice which meant that Christendom should be united, and Britain remain within the influence of the civilization of Italy and Gaul. But the modern traveler who climbs the many steps which lead from the river to what was "high Whitby's cloistered pile" has seen nothing of the Abbey of St. Hilda. In the ruins on the hill there was no fragment older than Plantagenet times. But discoveries of great interest have now been made.

Only an Antique

Leonia, a colored maid, had a taste for lofty ideas and high-sounding words. One of the members of the family in which she served was a tall elderly lady of imposing figure and fine carriage.

One day after Leonia had for perhaps the hundredth time expressed to the lady her great admiration for her handsome figure the object of her praises exclaimed, "Why do you say so much about my appearance, Leonia? I am only an antique."

"What is that?" asked Leonia in astonishment.

The lady explained to her.

"Well," Leonia burst forth, "if that is what you are now, you surely is a powerful indication of what you has been."—Youth's Companion

In Something of a Harry

Every trade has its stock of well-known yarns, but occasionally a new one does occur, only, alas, in time to become a classic. A certain well-known newspaper man was holding forth to a group of writers, among whom was a rather famous novelist. The journalist was saying that he had recently been engaged in revising the obituaries held in readiness by his paper. Turning to the novelist, he added jocosely: "I've just been writing you up."

But the novelist, apparently had not been following very closely, and waking up with a start, he asked eagerly: "What is it going to be published?"

Engelmann Spruce Valuable

In its fullest development, Engelmann spruce becomes a large tree, a hundred feet or more in height and three feet or more in diameter, with a smooth, straight and only slightly tapered trunk. Great quantities of Engelmann spruce are cut for lumber. The wood is soft and straight-grained and is used for various construction purposes, as telegraph and telephone poles, as mine timbers, for the construction of log buildings, and to some extent as lumber for interior finish. In contrast with the only other spruce in Rocky Mountain National park, Engelmann spruce is of considerable importance commercially.

Monuments to Apples

Monuments or markers have been erected to a few of the most noted varieties of apple. In 1895 a monument was built to the Baldwin at Wilmington, near Lowell, Mass. The first in New York was erected in the town of Canastota, Onondaga county, on the original site of the Primate apple trees of John T. Roberts of Syracuse, in 1902. There followed one to the Northern Spy in 1912, and the McIntosh Red in the same year. A monument to the Wealthy was erected at Excelsior, Minn., in 1912.

DRINK WATER
IF BACK OR KIDNEYS HURT

Begin Taking Salts if You Feel Backache or Have Bladder Weakness

Too much rich food forms acids which excite and overwork the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Flush the kidneys occasionally to relieve them like you relieve the bowels, removing acids, waste and poison, else you may feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, the stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get irritated, obliging one to get up two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste, begin drinking water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine and bladder disorders disappear.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder-irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help prevent serious kidney and bladder disorders.

By all means, drink lots of good water every day. Have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Adv.

OUR TUBERCULOSIS SANATORIUM

DR. J. K. ANDERSON, superintendent in charge of the Deerwood sanatorium, recently gave out much information concerning the institution in an address delivered in Brainerd. The sanatorium was opened in 1918. It is an institution for the treatment of tuberculosis in all its forms, with special reference to lung disease. It serves two counties, Crow Wing and Aitkin, and the expenses are divided, Crow Wing paying 68 per cent of the monthly deficit and Aitkin the balance, or 38 per cent.

Financial aid is received from the state to the extent of $5 per week for each free case from the two counties. The state built the buildings and the maintenance is provided by the two counties.

When conditions permit, cases are taken from outside counties, but not outside of the state. These cases are paid for by the county from which they come or private cases from our own counties when able pay $10 per week. But in the last two years over 60 per cent of the cases have been on the free list. Hence from a financial standpoint there is always a deficit as the net cost per patient for this year has averaged $2.20 per day and the most that is paid by outside cases is $1.75 per day and $1.43 from our own, and most of these pay nothing.

We have 24 available beds, said the doctor continuing his address to the Rotarians, and at present all but one are filled. You can well see what a small percentage of the tuberculosis cases of the two counties this would care for with an estimated population of 50,000 and the death rate from the disease about 97 per 100,000 of population, or about 48 per year and we should have one available bed for each annual death. By these figures I do not mean to convey the idea that we have a large waiting list, but there are no doubt many cases in the counties that should be in the sanatorium and in fact I know of several. This is one of our problems, getting the case into the sanatorium after definite diagnosis has been made even after the sputum is swarming with germs.

The average person has the idea that the sanatorium is a place to go to die rather than to get well. The very word sanatorium means a place to get well in. A sanatorium on the other hand is a place to go to keep from getting sick and another difference is usually about $20 per week. The two words have different derivations.

Dr. Anderson's talk was a most illuminating one and of real value to all who heard or who may read this reference made to his address. The appeal made for radio equipment to aid the shut-ins at the hospital has given the institution much publicity.

PEACE MORE THRILLING THAN WAR

"PEACE is more thrilling than war," says Private Peat in an article in the November Rotarian. His first book entitled "Private Peat" embodied his war experiences of two years. His next book was on peace and he lectured on the subject on three continents before it was put on paper.

The committing of the idea to paper was comparatively easy as was the committing to paper of the experiences of war, but the facts of peace were harder to get than the facts of war. "And I found this," continues the writer, "Peace is more thrilling than war."

"There is more romance in a day of Peace than in a year of war. In five years research on the subject of Peace, I have found that people know little about it. They do not notice Peace. And they do not love Peace. People pretend to love it, but it is to war that their enthusiasm is given. When people come to express thanks to a hero it is the peace hero who is forgotten and the war hero who is immortalized. The heroes of Peace are forgotten in song, in story, and in history. Their monuments are scattered and few."

"The greatest book has not yet been written. It will be the story of Peace, and the author will be an immortal of immortals. The story of Peace would be a history of the world it has been said to me. It would be so. The true history. The histories of today are stories of wars and victories, camouflaged with glory, and made to glitter with adventure. Peace is a force of such grandeur that no tinsel glitter will be needed to portray its perfection."

A WIDESPREAD REPUBLICAN VICTORY

As the returns pour in, the Republican victory continues to assume larger proportions. The threat of a Congress antagonistic to the President has been removed and Coolidge is now assured a working majority to back his efforts. In addition, the danger of a La Follette deadlock in Congress has also been removed.

Minnesota seems fairly launched back in the Republican column. An immense vote was polled in Minnesota, and for that matter, throughout the nation at large. It shows that a minority party has little chance of success when the nation is aroused to its duty to attend the polls.

ONE PLACE DIDN'T VOTE

ALL the injunctions to turn out and vote fell on deaf ears in one place. Nobody paid any attention to the clarion call to vote. That was in the District of Columbia, the seat of the nation's government.

Ballot boxes, locked ones, were placed at various points in the city by civic organizations and each box bore this legend: "All citizens of the United States are voting today except citizens of the District of Columbia. Ballot boxes closed."

MOVIE ENGINEERING

WHEN the public desires pictures of great floods, and other cataclysms, the movies respond and it has given birth to a new profession, that of "movie engineering."

The engineer creates shipwrecks, train wrecks, and other disasters. In many cases toys models are used. Some things are done on a minute scale for large pictorial results, while others are done in reality, on such a large scale that it is impossible to tell which is which.

Plea for Statues of Creations of Authors

The citizens of Auch, the ancient capital of Gascony, have decided to erect a statue to D'Artagnan, hero of Alexandre Dumas' "The Three Musketeers" and "Twenty Years After."

In reality, of course, it is much more than a statue to D'Artagnan, who never existed for the world until Dumas called him into being. It is more than a statue to Charles de Batz Castelmor, the original of Dumas' hero, who was born not far from Auch. It is really a statue to Dumas and the human imagination.

Everything that has made D'Artagnan memorable and international came from a great maker of romances—D'Artagnan is one of the many creations of poets and writers that have become more real than real men. It is always a fine thing to see recognition of such, the New York Sun comments. There might even be more statues to great characters of literature and fewer statues to little characters of "real" life. While there is no harm in remembering a man who leaves a fountain or a park to a village, the men who have left Odysseus, Hamlet, Falstaff, Faust, Jean Valjean and Natty Bumppo are, after all, the more deserving.

Earliest Accounts of Trade Among Nations

From the time that men began to live in cities, trade, in some shape, must have been carried on to supply the town-dwellers with necessities; but it is also clear that international trade must have existed, and affected to some extent even the pastoral nomadic races, for we find that Abraham was rich, not only in cattle, but in silver, gold, and gold and silver plate and ornaments (Gen. 13:2; 24:22, 53). Among trading nations mentioned in Scripture, Egypt holds in very early times a prominent position, though her external trade was carried on, not by her own citizens, but by foreigners—chiefly of the nomadic races. The internal trade of the Jews, as well as the external, was much promoted, as was the case also in Egypt, by the festivals, which brought large numbers of persons to Jerusalem, and caused great outlay in victims for sacrifice and in incense (1 Kings 8:63). The places of public market were, then as now, chiefly the open spaces near the gates, to which goods were brought for sale by those who came from the outside (Neh. 13:15, 16; Zech. 1:10). The traders in later times were allowed to intrude into the temple, in the outer courts of which victims were publicly sold for the sacrifices. (Zech. 14:21; Matt. 21:12; John 2:14).

Loaded Shells Spelled Doom of Shot Towers

Until the loaded shotgun shell was developed shot was shot to the jobbing trade throughout the entire country packed in bags, which in turn were purchased by the man having a muzzle-loading shotgun, who was obliged to reload his gun with powder and shot whenever the gun was fired at game or target, says the Detroit News. The loaded shot shell and the breech-loading shotgun sounded the death knell of the old type of shot tower.

The business of the ammunition concerns manufacturing shot shells grey by leaps and bounds so that the shot consumption of the country centered at the points where these shot shells were manufactured, notably in New England, and in the course of events these ammunition concerns began to manufacture their own shot, thus completely destroying the business of the many shot towers located throughout the country.

Family Learns the Secret of Health

St. Louis, Mo., June 23, 1924.

"It is now two years since my family and I first began eating WHOLE GRAIN WHEAT. My family never experienced better health. My wife and daughter, before eating the Wheat, every day or two had taken something for a laxative. My wife had stomach trouble very bad and for relief used baking soda from 4 to 7 times a day for relief. Since eating the Wheat she seems to be entirely free from that trouble.

DRINK WATER

IF BACK OR KIDNEYS HURT

Begin Taking Salts if You Feel Backache or Have Bladder Weakness

Too much rich food forms acids which excite and overwork the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Flush the kidneys occasionally to relieve them like you relieve the bowels, removing acids, waste and poison, else you may feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, the stomach, sores, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get irritated, obliging one to get up two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste, begin drinking water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine and bladder disorders disappear.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help prevent serious kidney and bladder disorders.

By all means, drink lots of good water every day. Have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Adv.

Primitive Customs in Cornish Fishing Town

A place where grown men play marbles with the zest of schoolboys and where cats catch live fish among the rock pools when the tide is out. Such a place does exist, and in the quaint old fishing town of St. Ives, in far-away Cornwall, these things may be seen.

In the cool of the evening, along the broad road bordering the sheltered harbor, numerous groups of hardy fishermen, with sea and sun-tanned complexions, play marbles for hours at a time, surrounded by many interested onlookers, remarks London Tit-Bits.

Grizzled old mariners, many of whom preserve the old Cornish custom of wearing small gold earrings, pace the quayside in parties of three and four, following the "walk four steps and turn," which is all they are able to do on the clear space on the decks of their luggers.

There is a legend about the cats of St. Ives, but there was surely never another fishing town with so many cats. Each morning, when the night's catches of mackerel, dogfish and skate are brought ashore, the fish are cleaned on tables placed near the water's edge and scores of cats have a glorious feed on the offal.

Failures Caused by Lack of Initiative

One of the greatest improvements of the automobile is the self-starter, now found on all but the cheapest kinds of cars, which need to be cranked by hand.

The device suggests the reflection that a very large proportion of the human family require something of like nature.

They lack initiative, voluntary effort; they need cranking in the form of orders or directions before doing anything worth while.

The men and women who succeed best in life and get the most out of it are of the self-starter type. They don't wait to be told or advised what to undertake, but proceed of their own accord to do things.

The great inventors, such as Edison, are all of this sort, says the Sacramento Bee. They are originators, not mere followers or imitators, and they rank among the chief benefactors of the world.

So it is in business, literature, art, the various industries, and, in fact, all occupations. Success in each is dependent chiefly upon originality or initiative.

The Unity of Nature

Nature can only be conceived as existing to a universal and not a particular end; to a universe of ends, and not to one—a work of ecstasy to be represented by a circular movement, as intention might be signified by a straight line of definite length. Each effect strengthens every other. There is no revolt in all the kingdoms from the common weal; no detachment of an individual. Hence the catholic character which makes every leaf an exponent of the world. When we behold the landscape in a poetic spirit, we do not reckon individuals. Nature knows neither palm nor oak, but only vegetable life, which sprouts into forests and festoons the globe with a garland of grasses and vines.—Emerson.

Unique British Island

Most of Britain's islands have their story, which is sometimes unique. The most striking instance, perhaps, is Sunk Island, in the Humber—a little world that has the peculiar distinction of being the youngest bit of Britain.

It is, in point of age, a mere bantling, having been formed in comparatively recent times of land carried away by the sea from the northeast coast. This land was swept down to Spurn head and then up the Humber, where it lodged and in time formed an island. The process is still going on, and as a result the island continues to grow. The public is enriched without knowing it; for this curious formation is the property of the Crown.

Rawlinson Was Peeved

A number of good stories center around General Lord Rawlinson, who for 40 years was connected with the British army in India. The general was brought prominently before the British public eye by being home on furlough. While he was in command of a column during the South African war, Lord Rawlinson was constantly sending in demands for heliographs, with no result. At last when drawing near Koonstadt, in what was then the Orange River colony, he signaled again to ask whether his heliographs had arrived. Officialdom, however, was rampant, and wanted to know "What do you want them for?" Back went the reply with caustic brevity, "To fry kidneys on, of course!"

Line of Least Resistance

Janet's husband was a simple old fellow.

One day the good laundress wanted her husband to paint the mangle. Having told him what to do, she went out to buy the dinner.

On her return she could see no sign of her husband in the cellar.

"Joe! Joe!" she called. "Where are you?"

"Upstairs!" replied Joe from above.

"What are you doing up there?"

"Painting the mangle."

"What are you painting up there for?"

"Well, the paint was up here!" replied Joe.

Dogs Need Frequent Release From Chain

The following humane appeal made by a correspondent in the Dog World shows pointedly how dogs are the victims of a cruel practice; how their dispositions may be spoiled, and their lives rendered unnatural and unhappy:

"May I plead through your columns for the better treatment of dogs who are continually chained, sometimes for weeks and months, without being liberated from their imprisonment? The other day a man stated in a police court that his dog had not been off the chain for twelve months; from its puppyhood, it had been fastened up without an hour of liberty.

"As a lover of dogs I hold that every dog is entitled to regular exercise, and that it is unjustifiable cruelty to imprison a dog for life. Such treatment makes a dog hopeless and miserable; he becomes dejected and often savage, and his health suffers seriously.

"A young dog can be trained to be a guard without chaining, and the best watchdogs are those which are not chained. Chains are a heritage of bygone days and should be abolished."

The best way to keep a dog that needs restraint is to put him in a yard with a high fence. If this is not practicable, fasten a wire across any yard; on this put an iron ring which, when attached by a cord to the dog's collar, will allow him to run backward and forward the full length of the wire. The yard should have shade as well as sunshine, to protect the dog from too great heat of the sun.

Make your dog your companion and friend. Treat him kindly and he will respond.

It is cruel to tie a dog under a wagon or allow him to follow an automobile or bicycle. Let him ride with you.

Fought to Establish Jewish Independence

The Maccabees was the name of a family in Syria, which during the Second century before Christ, resisted the persecutions inflicted upon the Jewish nation by the Seleucidae.

After the death of Mattathias, the leader of the revolt, in 166 B. C., his son Judas Maccabaeus, defeated the Syrians in three battles, reconquered Jerusalem, purified the temple, and restored the worship of Jehovah, says the Kansas City Star. He was slain in ambush in 161 B. C., and was succeeded by his brother, Jonathan, who was raised to the dignity of high priest, but was afterward treacherously slain at Ptolemais in 144 B. C., by Tryphon, the guardian of the young prince Antiochus Theos.

His brother, Simon, then succeeded to the leadership of the commonwealth, and completely established the independence of the Jews. After seven years of beneficent rule, he was murdered, together with his two sons, by his son-in-law, Ptolemy, who vainly hoped to be chosen his successor. John Hyrcanus, son of Simon, was the next ruler. He renewed the alliance with Rome, conquered Idumaea, and took the title of king, 107 B. C. Syria became a Roman province in 63 B. C.

Palladium in Legend

The Palladium was a famous wooden image of Pallas (Minerva), said to have been hurled from heaven by Zeus, and to have fallen near the tent of Ilius, while he was engaged in building Ilium (Troy). The oracle of Apollo having declared that the city should never be taken so long as Palladium was retained within its walls, the statue was placed in a sanctuary and carefully guarded. It was, however, finally stolen by Ulysses and Diomedes about 1184 B. C., and thus victory was secured to the Greeks. According to some accounts, Troy contained two Palladia, one of which was stolen and conveyed to one of the Greek cities, while the other was taken to Italy by Aeneas and secretly guarded by the Romans in the Temple of Vesta. The word "palladium" is sometimes used at the present day to signify a pledge of security and protection.—Kansas City Star.

Timber Well Protected

Outright theft of timber is rare in the national forests. Each year there are some cases of timber trespass, but usually these trespasses happen through no criminal intent. They are frequently due to imperfect title records on the part of private operators.

The government maintains a corps of rangers and forest guards on the national forests, who in the course of their daily work are constantly traveling through the forest areas under their jurisdiction. This patrol prevents deliberate theft and discovers and corrects unintentional trespass. The penalty for deliberate trespass is severe and is applied rigorously.

Everything in Order

The name of the prisoner was Gunn. "And what is the charge?" inquired the magistrate.

"That Gunn was loaded with drink, your worship," answered the constable. "I wish to be let off, sir," pleaded the wretched man.

"Gunn, you are discharged," the magistrate told him.

And the report was in the papers next day.—London Tit-Bits.

He Never Returned

Mr. Staylate—Really, I must be going. I must say those saddest words ever spoken—good-by.

Miss Weerie—You might say something sadder than that. You might say "Au revoir."—Boston Transcript.

Full Military Honors at Squaw Man's Burial

Sam Terry, beloved "Siksela" and squaw man of the Sioux, lies buried in the Rosebud Indian reservation in St. Francis, S. D. Full military honors were accorded the old United States scout and former Indian fighter by the American Legion as his body was lowered to its last resting place.

Samuel Mark Terry, nephew of General Terry of Civil war and Indian war fame, was born in New York September 1, 1830. Sam joined the United States army in 1858 and a gunshot wound received in the Civil war caused him to wear a silver plate in his throat for the rest of his life.

Handicapped by the wound and undaunted by loss of his toes by freezing while he was engaged in army messenger and scout work for Uncle Sam around the army posts in the land of the Sioux Indians, Sam Terry continued in the government service until romance conquered him.

His detachment was about to attack an Indian village in 1867, with orders to kill every man. During the fighting figures were seen hiding in the tall grass. One of the soldiers was about to shoot when Sam ordered him to wait. Search of the grass revealed two Indian girls. After the attack, one of these persisted in pursuing Terry until he became a squaw man and a real lover of the Indians.

Old-timers declare Sam Terry was a noble character. He served his country for 23 years, and after his adoption by the Indians he helped bring about a mutual understanding between them and Washington.

Where the Hairpins Go

There is a very charming fairy story written concerning the land where all lost points go, says the St. Joseph News-Press. So completely do vast quantities of pins disappear from human sight that it seems there must be some magic in their vanishment. But the pretty fairy story is far from the sordid reality of the discovery. The other day, of many of the lost pins, especially hairpins. When sheriff's raided squatters who were occupying shacks on the Chicago dump, a pile of thirty tons of wire articles, mostly hairpins, was discovered.

The discarded hairpins covered a

Evidently girls and women who bobbed their hair had thrown away their collection of hairpins and those who profit from sorting trash had assembled the remarkable collection. Freedom from the thralldom of pins sticking into or pressing their heads is said to be one of the great advantages of women's short locks, though facetious men have complained that the loss of this household article means the deprivation of handy nuptials and of a wire to hold damaged gulluses. Yet their alleged consternation is nothing in comparison with the plight of hairpin manufacturers.

Meaning of "Alabama"

It has long been a matter of tradition that the name "Alabama" had the romantic meaning of "Here We Rest." This originated about seventy-five years ago and gained widespread popularity through the writings of Judge Meek, who handled the history of the state in a volume which was very generally accepted. Some recent philological research has upset this. Rev. Allen Wright, a highly educated Choctaw, says that it means "thicket clearers." That was originally the name of a tribe of Indians which inhabited that part of the country and the name was always given to the river and afterwards to the state. In his opinion the word is compounded from "Alba," meaning a thicket or mass of vegetation, and "amo," to clear or gather up. Another student of tribal dialects concurs in this belief, with the slightly different definition of "vegetation gatherers."

LAST BODY IS TAKEN FROM MILFORD MINE

41ST VICTIM IS FOUND 9 MONTHS
AFTER THE MINE
ACCIDENT

SEVEN OF 48 MINERS IN WORK-
INGS ESCAPE FROM THE
FLOODED TUNNEL

Crosby, Minn., Nov. 5.—The final chapter of the Milford mine disaster of February 5 was written yesterday with the recovery of the body of Arvid Lahti, last of 41 miners who lost their lives in Minnesota's greatest mine tragedy.

Lahti, 31 years old and married, was a resident of Cuyuna. His body was found by searchers in stop No. 7, lacking just one day of being nine months after the accident.

It was exactly 3:45 o'clock in the afternoon of February 5 that the waters of Foley lake, a small body of water of some 4,000,000 feet capacity in the vicinity of the mine, broke through the ceiling of the workings and snuffed out the lives of more than two score men. News of what had happened flashed over the Cuyuna range and thence out over the state, and despite the cold and the low hanging storm clouds which occasionally spit stinging particles of snow, men and women from miles around flocked to the mine shaft panic stricken.

Forty-eight men were in the mine when the flood rushed in. Seven managed to scramble up the ladder to safety as the angry waters reached up to within 35 feet of the surface.

Families of those who had been employed on the day shift crowded about the shaft or battled with officials in charge, hoping against hope, that their loved ones were among the seven who escaped or seeking some word of cheer that there might still be a chance for those entombed.

By 6 o'clock a list of those lost was made available. The Red Cross immediately began a check-up of those families left in need.

Officials of the mine marshalled a force of experts from the Mesaba range and other points to assist those on the Cuyuna range and plans were laid for the unwatering of the mine. Equipment for this gigantic task, which developed into a more colossal undertaking than even those in charge had at first realized, was rushed here on special trains and crews recruited from hundreds who volunteered their services were brought to the scene.

Steel had to be found and tracks laid to reach pumps at Riverton. Special power lines had to be raised. Wild rumors were given out that pumps would be operating within two days.

Then cool heads took matters in hand and with aggravating deliberation began the biggest job that ever faced the mining industry in Minnesota. The material was full of muskeg, sticks and weeds. The first pump was installed in the shaft time and time again and finally was pulled up and a new suction head devised which met the situation.

A sand sucker was brought in and set to work draining what remains of Foley lake into the lake at Wolford. It was found necessary to blast a channel from Foley lake into a "pug hole" nearby and this was done to permit the water there to be drained off.

Finally the muskeg was cleaned away down to the clay. Three months almost to the day with day and night shifts continually at work and at the expense of nearly $1,000 a day, the first body was recovered. It was on the top of the 135-foot level. Other levels, the many raises and the balance of the shaft were still full of mud, which at this stage had become too thick to pump and water lines had to be lowered to pump into the mass before the pumps could operate. The rescue crews, realizing the danger of their work, progressed slowly but patiently.

Bodies were found mostly singly at first and in many instances not where they were expected to be located. During September the rescue progressed more rapidly and the bodies were found in groups of two or three.

A month ago the fortieth was removed and it was expected the task would soon be finished. But despite constant search Lahti's body could not be located. Still the searchers would not give up. Doggedly they hung on going over each day more thoroughly the ground that had been covered previously. Finally, early yesterday, the body was found.—Minneapolis Tribune.

His Lights Switch On When He Kicks 'Em

St. Paul, Nov. 5.—"I've got the kind of lights that go out occasionally, judge, but if you give them a kick they go on again."

A. W. Bergan arrested for driving without lights told this to Judge Olson in court today, explaining how he was taken by the officer.

"That is the best explanation given today," said the judge. "Case dismissed."

Presidential Aspirant Is Unable to Ballot; in Jail for Alimony

Cleveland, O., Nov. 5.—One of the presidential candidates lost a vote here yesterday.

Dr. Louis R. Robecheke failed to vote owing to the fact the election board didn't install a booth in the county jail, where Dr. Robecheke is spending the seventh week of his anti-alimony strike.

He was sent there for contempt by Judge George F. Adams for refusing to pay alimony.

IN TWIN CITIES TO ATTEND FUNERAL, MAN DROPS DEAD

Minneapolis, Nov. 5.—William Krueger came to Minneapolis to attend a funeral and today his body is being sent back to Ortonville, Minn., for his own funeral.

Mr. Krueger arrived at the home of his son, Fred C. Krueger, 2630 12th ave. s., Minneapolis, last night. Today the whole family was to motor to Iowa to attend the funeral of a relative of Mrs. Fred Krueger.

The father and son went to a garage near the home early this morning to get the car. The excitement had apparently proved too much for the elder Mr. Krueger, however, and he fell dead in the garage. Mr. Krueger was 61.

His home is in Ortonville where he runs a blacksmith shop.

Almost Evened the Series

Mrs. Smith wanted to go to the movies. Mr. Smith said he had put in a hard day at the office and was tired and would rather sit at home and smoke. Knowing the Smiths, anyone could have predicted that they would go to the movies!

"Let's sit down near the front," said Mrs. Smith.

"But I don't like to sit near the front," Mr. Smith protested. "When I do that the pictures hurt my eyes."

"Nonsense!" scoffed Mrs. Smith. "I like to be down close so I can watch the musicians."

Soon the two were seated within comfortable seeing distance of the orchestra.

"Oh, don't you just love to hear the rumble of the kettledrums?" Mrs. Smith gushed.

And then the worm turned, albeit ever so slightly.

"Yes," Mr. Smith replied. "Keep quiet!"—Kansas City Star.

Unharmful by Long Falls

Among the classic English falls may be mentioned that of a steeplejack, who fell from the top of the church of St. George in Bolton-le-Moors to the ground, the whole distance traversed being some 120 feet. The man's skull struck some sheet lead upon the earth and left its impact upon it, but though this fall was unbroken the man was only slightly injured and resumed work in a few days. Not long ago a man with his shoes on fell from the top of a cliff at Dover, the height of which was afterward found to be 400 feet. He was picked up floating insensible in some five feet of water, but his shoes were off, which proves that he must have retained sufficient consciousness on reaching the water to enable him to draw his shoes from his feet.

New Palindrome Found

New palindromes are rare, but a western newspaper writer has revealed several especially good ones. A palindrome is merely a phrase that spells backward and forward. A classic example of the palindrome is the speech put into the mouth of Napoleon: "Able was I ere I saw Elba." Among the new ones sent was the following purporting to be a sign which a store manager placed over a rat-catching preparation composed of Dutch cheese and tar: "Rat trap made a la Edam, part tar." Years ago when "red root" was popular as a cure-all, a druggist's sign ran: "Red root put up to order."

DEFIED GODS' WRATH FOR SAKE OF LOOT

Proof That Egyptian Undertakers Stole From Dead.

Evidence that Egyptian undertakers in 2000 B. C. stole jewelry from the dead, defying the gods, and then sent the family big bills has been uncovered by the University museum expedition in the tombs of ancient Egypt, writes the Philadelphia Bulletin.

Dr. Clarence S. Fisher, in charge of the Eckley B. Cox expedition sent out by the museum, gives these facts in a report just received. The site now being excavated was used as early as 2000 B. C. by the mysterious Antef kings. Its tombs, however, according to Doctor Fisher, reach their grandest splendor in the period from the Eighteenth to Twentieth century B. C., when the kings and queens and their courtiers were buried just opposite Luxor.

"It was one of the fundamental requisites in Egyptian religious beliefs that the body of the deceased should be preserved intact throughout eternity, and much pains and ingenuity were expended to accomplish this end," writes Doctor Fisher. "Tombs were constructed with false doors and misleading passages so that the actual location of the tomb chamber would be concealed. Our excavations of Gizeh and Denderah showed us the undertakers intrusted with the disposal of the corpse in its final resting place were, however, willing to defy the gods for spoils."

"Bodies have been found in sealed tombs and in coffins with the lids undisturbed with their hands, feet and heads cut off so ornaments and jewelry could be removed quickly. Having done this hastily, the undertakers departed with their loot, never failing. It is certain, to collect the amount due from the family for their services."

Further evidence that it was a bad practice for a man to try to take his wealth with him after death is given by Doctor Fisher, who adds:

"During the reign of the later Ramesside pharaohs the systematic plundering of the Theban tombs by organized bands became such a public scandal that a commission was appointed to investigate the matter. The robbers after finding a tomb in the midst of a group tunneled under ground to an adjoining one and thus could loot a whole row of chambers without their work becoming apparent to any one on the outside."

"During the Middle Ages there arose in Europe a demand for the bitumen with which the mummies had been preserved, as it was supposed to have some medicinal value. The cemeteries were the only source of supply, and countless tombs were searched.

"The final phase came with the advent of the modern tourist and his demand for souvenirs of his visit. To this period we owe the wholesale destruction of the decorations on the walls themselves, as many beautiful reliefs were wantonly mutilated to get one coveted head. Happily, the natives have now discovered it is far more profitable and less risky to pass off upon the tourist an excellent forgery, which gives as much satisfaction to the purchaser."

"The lower slope of the cemetery is practically covered with the mud brick houses of the modern Arab town of Dra-abul-neggah, in each case a house marking the position of a tomb."

"The entire village owes its existence to the fact that in this district, excessively hot in summer, a cool subterranean chamber is a necessary adjunct to a dwelling and the rock caverns were a cheap and easy way of obtaining it. When not used for sleeping they made fine stables and storerooms for crops. The chance of finding a treasure was an added incentive."

The Deadly Sex

She invited him to parties, dances, teas and everything that she properly could. Her eyes were very soft. She did her best to please him in every way. She led him through the moonlight and gave him all the chance in the world to tell her the old, old story. But he didn't want her for a life partner, and so, of course, he didn't tell her the story.

But later on another fellow did, and she agreed to wed. And one day she chanced to meet on the street the chap she had haunted in the past and this, kind and gentle reader, is what she said to him:

"Oh, Jimmy, didn't we used to have perfectly wonderful times playing around together? You were a dandy pal! But, oh, you don't know how different it seems to a girl when she has met the one!"

And still they call them the weaker sex!—William Sanford, in Judge.

Bit of Advice

A fresh youth on a Florida beach eyed a fair bather longer than she considered necessary. She shot him a glance or two that evinced no friendliness. A good-natured native thought fit to offer the young man a word of advice.

"Son," said he, "maybe we Southerners are a trifle fiery. Anyhow, when you see a pretty girl coming out of the surf, remember the words of 'Dixie.'"

"What words?"

"Look away!"—Atlanta Constitution.

MEDICAL ADVICE GIVEN BY RADIO

For some years, the Public Health Service has maintained a free, medical service to ships at sea having no physicians on board, and many stories of its usefulness in emergencies have been recounted.

This service which has been established on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts and on the Gulf of Mexico is being extended to include shipping on the Great Lakes. Arrangements have been made for Marine Hospital No. 6 at Cleveland, Ohio and Public Health Service Relief Station, No. 327 at Sault Ste. Marie to respond to requests from masters of lake vessels for medical advice when needed.

LAST BODY IS TAKEN FROM MILFORD MINE

41ST VICTIM IS FOUND 9 MONTHS
AFTER THE MINE
ACCIDENT

SEVEN OF 48 MINERS IN WORK-
INGS ESCAPE FROM THE
FLOODED TUNNEL

Crosby, Minn., Nov. 5.—The final chapter of the Milford mine disaster of February 5 was written yesterday with the recovery of the body of Arvid Lahti, last of 41 miners who lost their lives in Minnesota's greatest mine tragedy.

Lahti, 31 years old and married, was a resident of Cuyuna. His body was found by searchers in stop No. 7, lacking just one day of being nine months after the accident.

It was exactly 3:45 o'clock in the afternoon of February 5 that the waters of Foley lake, a small body of water of some 4,000,000 feet capacity in the vicinity of the mine, broke through the ceiling of the workings and snuffed out the lives of more than two score men. News of what had happened flashed over the Cuyuna range and thence out over the state, and despite the cold and the low hanging storm clouds which occasionally spit stinging particles of snow, men and women from miles around flocked to the mine shaft panic stricken.

Forty-eight men were in the mine when the flood rushed in. Seven managed to scramble up the ladder to safety as the angry waters reached up to within 35 feet of the surface.

Families of those who had been employed on the day shift crowded about the shaft or battled with officials in charge, hoping against hope, that their loved ones were among the seven who escaped or seeking some word of cheer that there might still be a chance for those entombed.

By 6 o'clock a list of those lost was made available. The Red Cross immediately began a check-up of those families left in need.

Officials of the mine marshalled a force of experts from the Mesaba range and other points to assist those on the Cuyuna range and plans were laid for the unwatering of the mine. Equipment for this gigantic task, which developed into a more colossal undertaking than even those in charge had at first realized, was rushed here on special trains and crews recruited from hundreds who volunteered their services were brought to the scene.

Steel had to be found and tracks laid to reach pumps at Riverton. Special power lines had to be raised. Wild rumors were given out that pumps would be operating within two days.

Then cool heads took matters in hand and with aggravating deliberation began the biggest job that ever faced the mining industry in Minnesota. The material was full of muskeg, sticks and weeds. The first pump was installed in the shaft time and time again and finally was pulled up and a new suction head devised which met the situation.

A sand sucker was brought in and set to work draining what remains of Foley lake into the lake at Wolford. It was found necessary to blast a channel from Foley lake into a "pug hole" nearby and this was done to permit the water there to be drained off.

Finally the muskeg was cleaned away down to the clay. Three months almost to the day with day and night shifts continually at work and at the expense of nearly $1,000 a day, the first body was recovered. It was on the top of the 135-foot level. Other levels, the many raises and the balance of the shaft were still full of mud, which at this stage had become too thick to pump and water lines had to be lowered to pump into the mass before the pumps could operate. The rescue crews, realizing the danger of their work, progressed slowly but patiently.

Bodies were found mostly singly at first and in many instances not where they were expected to be located. During September the rescue progressed more rapidly and the bodies were found in groups of two or three.

A month ago the fortieth was removed and it was expected the task would soon be finished. But despite constant search Lahti's body could not be located. Still the searchers would not give up. Doggedly they hung on going over each day more thoroughly the ground that had been covered previously. Finally, early yesterday, the body was found.—Minneapolis Tribune.

Milwaukee, Nov. 5.—With more than half of the state's 2,681 precincts Senator Robert M. La Follette was leading President Coolidge in Wisconsin by over 50,000 votes. The vote in 1,411 precincts of the state gave La Follette, 209,434, Coolidge 156,522, Davis 33,409.

The vote for governor in 1,279 precincts of the state gave Blaine, 156,544; Lueck, 117,891.

His Lights Switch On When He Kicks 'Em

St. Paul, Nov. 5.—I've got the kind of lights that go out occasionally, Judge, but if you give them a kick they go on again.

A. W. Bergan arrested for driving without lights told this to Judge Olson in court today, explaining how he was taken by the officer.

"That is the best explanation given today," said the judge. "Case dismissed."

Presidential Aspirant Is Unable to Ballot in Jail for Alimony

Cleveland, O., Nov. 5.—One of the presidential candidates lost a vote here yesterday.

Dr. Louis R. Robecheke failed to vote owing to the fact the election board didn't install a booth in the county jail, where Dr. Robecheke is spending the seventh week of his anti-alimony strike.

He was sent there for contempt by Judge George F. Adams for refusing to pay alimony.

DAVIS WIRES CONGRATULATIONS TO PRES. COOLIDGE

(By United Press)
Washington, Nov. 5.—John W. Davis, Democratic president for president in yesterday's election, today wired his congratulations to President Coolidge:

"Permit me to congratulate you on your sweeping victory and to express the hope that your administration may by its success insure the welfare of the country," said Davis. "Please accept my thanks," wired President Coolidge in reply, "for your message and my appreciation of the patriotic sentiment you express."

IN TWIN CITIES TO ATTEND FUNERAL, MAN DROPS DEAD

Minneapolis, Nov. 5.—William Krueger came to Minneapolis to attend a funeral and today his body is being sent back to Ortonville, Minn., for his own funeral.

Mr. Krueger arrived at the home of his son, Fred C. Krueger, 2630 13th ave. s., Minneapolis, last night. Today the whole family was to motor to Iowa to attend the funeral of a relative of Mrs. Fred Krueger.

The father and son went to a garage near the home early this morning to get the car. The excitement had apparently proved too much for the elder Mr. Krueger, however, and he fell dead in the garage. Mr. Krueger was 61.

His home is in Ortonville where he runs a blacksmith shop.

Almost Evened the Series

Mrs. Smith wanted to go to the movies. Mr. Smith said he had put in a hard day at the office and was tired and would rather sit at home and smoke. Knowing the Smiths, anyone could have predicted that they would go to the movies!

"Let's sit down near the front," said Mrs. Smith.

"But I don't like to sit near the front," Mr. Smith protested. "When I do that the pictures hurt my eyes."

"Nonsense!" scoffed Mrs. Smith. "I like to be down close so I can watch the musicians."

Soon the two were seated within comfortable seeing distance of the orchestra.

"Oh, don't you just love to hear the rumble of the kettledrums?" Mrs. Smith gushed.

And then the worm turned, albeit ever so slightly.

"Yes," Mr. Smith replied. "Keep quiet!"—Kansas City Star.

Unharmful by Long Falls

Among the classic English falls may be mentioned that of a steeplejack, who fell from the top of the church of St. George in Bolton-le-Moors to the ground, the whole distance traversed being some 120 feet. The man's skull struck some sheet lead upon the earth and left its impact upon it, but though this fall was quite unbroken the man was only slightly injured and resumed work in a few days. Not long ago a man with his shoes on fell from the top of a cliff at Dover, the height of which was afterward found to be 400 feet. He was picked up floating insensible in some five feet of water, but his shoes were off, which proves that he must have retained sufficient consciousness on reaching the water to enable him to draw his shoes from his feet.

New Palindrome Found

New palindromes are rare, but a western newspaper writer has revealed several especially good ones. A palindrome is merely a phrase that spells backward and forward. A classic example of the palindrome is the speech put into the mouth of Napoleon: "Able was I ere I saw Elba." Among the new ones sent was the following purporting to be a sign which a store manager placed over a rat-catching preparation composed of Dutch cheese and tar: "Rat trap made a la Edam, part tar." Years ago when "red root" was popular as a cure-all, a druggist's sign ran: "Red root put up to order."

DEFIED GODS' WRATH FOR SAKE OF LOOT

Proof That Egyptian Undertakers Stole From Dead.

Evidence that Egyptian undertakers in 2000 B. C. stole jewelry from the dead, defying the gods, and then sent the family big bills has been uncovered by the University museum expedition in the tombs of ancient Egypt, writes the Philadelphia Bulletin.

Dr. Clarence S. Fisher, in charge of the Eckley B. Cox expedition sent out by the museum, gives these facts in a report just received. The site now being excavated was used as early as 200 B. C. by the mysterious Antef kings. Its tombs, however, according to Doctor Fisher, reach their grandest splendor in the period from the Eighteenth to Twentieth century B. C., when the kings and queens and their courtiers were buried just opposite Luxor.

"It was one of the fundamental requisites in Egyptian religious beliefs that the body of the deceased should be preserved intact throughout eternity, and much pains and ingenuity were expended to accomplish this end," writes Doctor Fisher. "Tombs were constructed with false doors and misleading passages so that the actual location of the tomb chamber would be concealed. Our excavations of Gizeh and Denderah showed us the undertakers entrusted with the disposal of the corpse in its final resting place were, however, willing to defy the gods for spoils."

"Bodies have been found in sealed tombs and in coffins with the lids undisturbed with their hands, feet and heads cut off so ornaments and jewelry could be removed quickly. Having done this hastily, the undertakers departed with their loot, never failing. It is certain, to collect the amount due from the family for their services."

Further evidence that it was a bad practice for a man to try to take his wealth with him after death is given by Doctor Fisher, who adds:

"During the reign of the later Ramesseid pharaohs the systematic plundering of the Theban tombs by organized bands became such a public scandal that a commission was appointed to investigate the matter. The robbers after finding a tomb in the midst of a group tunneled under ground to an adjoining one and thus could loot a whole row of chambers without their work becoming apparent to any one on the outside."

"During the Middle Ages there arose in Europe a demand for the bitumen with which the mummies had been preserved, as it was supposed to have some medicinal value. The cemeteries were the only source of supply, and countless tombs were searched.

"The final phase came with the advent of the modern tourist and his demand for souvenirs of his visit. To this period we owe the wholesale destruction of the decorations on the walls themselves, as many beautiful reliefs were wantonly mutilated to get one coveted head. Happily, the natives have now discovered it is far more profitable and less risky to pass off upon the tourist an excellent forgery, which gives as much satisfaction to the purchaser."

"The lower slope of the cemetery is practically covered with the mud brick houses of the modern Arab town of Dra-abul-neggah, in each case a house marking the position of a tomb."

"The entire village owes its existence to the fact that in this district, excessively hot in summer, a cool subterranean chamber is a necessary adjunct to a dwelling and the rock caverns were a cheap and easy way of obtaining it. When not used for sleeping they made fine stables and storerooms for crops. The chance of finding a treasure was an added incentive."

The Deadly Sex

She invited him to parties, dances, teas and everything that she properly could. Her eyes were very soft. She did her best to please him in every way. She led him through the moonlight and gave him all the chance in the world to tell her the old, old story. But he didn't want her for a life partner, and so, of course, he didn't tell her the story.

But later on another fellow did, and she agreed to wed. And one day she chanced to meet on the street the chap she had haunted in the past and this, kind and gentle reader, is what she said to him:

"Oh, Jimmy, didn't we used to have perfectly wonderful times playing around together? You were a dandy pal! But, oh, you don't know how different it seems to a girl when she has met the one!"

And still they call them the weaker sex!—William Sanford, in Judge.

Bit of Advice

A fresh youth on a Florida beach eyed a fair bather longer than she considered necessary. She shot him a glance or two that evinced no friendliness. A good-natured native thought fit to offer the young man a word of advice.

"Son," said he, "maybe we Southerners are a trifle fiery. Anyhow, when you see a pretty girl coming out of the surf, remember the words of 'Dixie.'"

"What words?"

"Look away."—Atlanta Constitution.

MEDICAL ADVICE GIVEN BY RADIO

For some years, the Public Health Service has maintained a free, medical service to ships at sea having no physicians on board, and many stories of its usefulness in emergencies have been recounted.

This service which has been established on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts and on the Gulf of Mexico is being extended to include shipping on the Great Lakes. Arrangements have been made for Marine Hospital No. 6 at Cleveland, Ohio and Public Health Service Relief Station, No. 327 at Sault Ste. Marie to respond to requests from masters of lake vessels for medical advice when needed.

DISTRICT COURT OPENED TODAY

Call of the Calendar Was First Order of Business in Morning

COURT CALL LENGTHY ONE

Grand Jury Has Been Called For Friday, Nov. 7, And Petit on November 12

District court opened on Wednesday morning, Judge W. S. McClenahan on the bench. The call of the calendar was the first and only order of business during the morning.

The calendar for the November term is a comparatively long one. A number of cases were stricken from the calendar and others placed on the calendar by motion of the attorneys concerned.

The grand jury has been called for Friday, November 7th, and the petit jury for next Wednesday, November 12th, instead of next Monday, as previously ordered. This change was made because Tuesday, November 11th is Armistice day, and a legal holiday.

Wednesday afternoon was given over to the naturalization of applicants for citizenship, R. K. Doe being in charge of the examination. The general committee in charge of the patriotic program has been working hard on this important feature, and is presenting a very impressive exercises for the newly admitted citizens. Twenty-six aliens are trying for their final papers.

A number of local civic organizations are represented in this program, including the American Legion, the American Legion Auxiliary, the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Elks lodge and the Lions club. Boy Scouts of the city are acting as ushers. The complete program will be given in Thursday's Dispatch.

Mrs. Louis Knudsen, of the D. A. R., is in charge of the musical part of the program. The Misses Gladys Peterson and Alice Smith, of the Legion Auxiliary, have charge of the luncheon to be served following the exercises. Dr. A. K. Cohen, representing the Elks, is chairman of the committee furnishing the speaker of the day. B. L. Lagerquist, of the Lions club, is general chairman of the exercises.

BAXTER SPECIALS

Ben Wallace called at Kinney's Tuesday afternoon on business matters.

Mr. and Mrs. William Van Zant spent Saturday evening at Gustafson's.

Miss Lillian Novotney made several short visits in the neighborhood Sunday.

Avery Cass called for a few minutes at his parents home Sunday afternoon.

Two of Baxter's most prominent residents have been appointed as the Republican representatives. There seems to be some mistake however, as we hear they are both much interested in the Farmer-Labor party.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Kinney were favored with a large number of visitors last Sunday. Some of these were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blunt, Miss Clara Varner and Mr. and Mrs. Ward Campbell.

Mr. Charles Barrett and daughter, Miss Evelyn, visited Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Cass, Oct. 26.

Miss Gladys Peterson called at Mrs. Van Zant's home for a short time Thursday evening.

Charles Barrett, Sr., was busy the first of the week helping his father-in-law haul the remainder of his hay.

Interest is very keen in Baxter at present. The main issue seems to be "Who did you vote for?"

Mr. and Mrs. William Van Zant motored to Mille Lacs lake to visit relatives.

We hear that Philip Rudek and family have taken a trip to California. No doubt many others wish they could forget the cold winter ahead.

Andrew Mack was a visitor at Theodore Felver's home Sunday. Mr. Mack is busy hauling corn fodder at present.

Ed. Walters and family of Duluth, former residents of Baxter, were visitors at Novotney's and Z. Barrett's this week.

Mr. Bidwell and Mr. Van Zant are both very busy hauling straw. James Kinney made a business trip to Brainerd Saturday.

HOME ON FIRE

Residence of Mrs. Emma Shupe, 224
Front Street, Partially Destroyed

Fire at 2:40 o'clock Tuesday afternoon partially destroyed the home of Mrs. Emma Shupe, 224 Front street.

The cause of the blaze could not be learned, but it seems to have started in the roof, and burned that portion of the building, together with the second story. Most of the furniture was taken from the house, but there was much damage from water to both personal property and the dwelling.

CHARGED WITH LARCENY OF CAR

Bob Carson And George Benjamin Arraigned in Municipal Court

BOTH WAIVE EXAMINATION

Charged With Taking Earl O'Brien's
Buick Car Several Weeks Ago

In municipal court Wednesday morning, Bob Carson and George Benjamin were arraigned, charged with the larceny of an automobile. Each defendant waived examination and was bound over to the district court to await the action of the grand jury.

These defendants are charged with the taking of Earl O'Brien's Buick touring car several weeks ago. They are said to have been arrested with the automobile at Wolf Point, Montana, where the Buick was held in a garage while the sheriff telegraphed to Mike Holm, secretary of state of Minnesota, to find out to whom the car belonged.

The same night that the sheriff telegraphed, Carson and Benjamin are alleged to have broken into the garage, taking the Buick and drove back east about forty miles, and then north into Canada. The sheriff, thinking that they had traveled west, wired to towns in that direction.

Carson and Benjamin were arrested at Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada, and held there until Sheriff Fred J. Reid and Chief of Police Harry O. Gaskill arrived and took them back to Brainerd. The defendants did not fight extradition from Canada, and are said to have made a clean confession of the theft of the car, from before the New Park theatre, where it was parked while the owner was attending the show. Automobile paint was found in the Buick, and the defendants are said to have stated that they had intended to repaint the car to disguise it and lessen the chances of its being identified.

Messrs Reid and Gaskill left Lethbridge on the return trip with their prisoners on last Thursday morning, and arrived in Brainerd on Monday. The distance is 1,500 miles. Some bad roads were encountered in the Bad Lands of North Dakota.

BRAINERD'S ODDEST STORIES OF TODAY

It is rumored that one "real" election bet was made in Brainerd during this campaign just closed, such as cartoonists draw. The principals were Dave Schrader and Dutch Strout, presumably Coolidge and LaFollette adherents. Details are not available but it has to do with wearing red or yellow shirts with big placards and perambulators around several city blocks. We'll all watch for the parade. Two such robust, good-natured party wheel-horses, working out some ridiculous election bet will furnish the laughs we all need as a finishing touch to a somewhat tough political campaign.

Dr. R. A. Beise Acted as Toastmaster
For Latter Part of Program

The Chamber of Commerce held open house on Tuesday evening for the purpose of receiving election returns. Several hundred citizens, both men and women, gathered there, and were entertained between election returns with a very pleasing program.

Dr. R. A. Beise acted as toastmaster, and presented the following numbers: Col. C. D. Johnson, representing John W. Davis, democratic nominee for the presidency, pictured in glowing terms the rejoicing that would be nation-wide when the returns were completed and an entire democratic ticket was found elected. "Tomorrow night, all over the United States, the populace will be singing, 'Glory Hallelujah to Davis'" concluded Mr. Johnson.

President Calvin Coolidge was ably represented by R. R. Gould, who stated that his chief feels confident that he will carry the country, and that the state of Minnesota will give him a good majority. Mr. Gould referred to the Republican platform, saying that the party stands for law enforcement, economy, and a budget system, and that its future record will exceed that of its past in these matters.

Superintendent W. C. Cobb stated that a straw ballot had been taken in the high school, which probably shows to some extent the outcome of the election generally throughout the city. Referring to the new high school site, Mr. Cobb said that a majority of the students in the high school reside on the north side of the Northern Pacific tracks, which accounts for the favor shown the north side site among the student body. A majority of the school children in the combined grades and high school reside on the south side of the tracks, said Mr. Cobb.

Mrs. E. J. Quinn, county and district chairman of the Republican ladies, spoke of the work that had been done throughout the district for the Republican party, and felt satisfied with the results of this work, as were shown by the returns that were coming in.

Mrs. J. A. Thabes, secretary of the Republican county organization, stated that she was very much gratified with the results, which seemed to be favoring the party, and which reflected the work that had been done by the ladies in the county.

Rev. O. S. Winther, was called upon to express the views of a churchman with reference to the election. Rev. Winther said that the various religious denominations were as much divided as to politics as they are as to their saving graces. He paid a high tribute to President Coolidge, for the high ideals that the president has expressed in many of his speeches during this campaign.

R. R. DISTRICT COURT OPENED TODAY

Call of the Calendar Was First Order of Business in Morning

COURT CALL LENGTHY ONE

Grand Jury Has Been Called For Friday, Nov. 7, And Petit on November 12

District court opened on Wednesday morning, Judge W. S. McClenahan on the bench. The call of the calendar was the first and only order of business during the morning.

The calendar for the November term is a comparatively long one. A number of cases were stricken from the calendar and others placed on the calendar by motion of the attorneys concerned.

The grand jury has been called for Friday, November 7th, and the petit jury for next Wednesday, November 12th, instead of next Monday, as previously ordered. This change was made because Tuesday, November 11th is Armistice day, and a legal holiday.

Wednesday afternoon was given over to the naturalization of applicants for citizenship. R. K. Doe being in charge of the examination. The general committee in charge of the patriotic program has been working hard on this important feature, and is presenting a very impressive exercises for the newly admitted citizens. Twenty-six aliens are trying for their final papers.

A number of local civic organizations are represented in this program, including the American Legion, the American Legion Auxiliary, the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Elks lodge and the Lions club. Boy Scouts of the city are acting as ushers. The complete program will be given in Thursday's Dispatch.

Mrs. Louis Knudsen, of the D. A. R., is in charge of the musical part of the program. The Misses Gladys Peterson and Alice Smith, of the Legion Auxiliary, have charge of the luncheon to be served following the exercises. Dr. A. K. Cohen, representing the Elks, is chairman of the committee furnishing the speaker of the day. B. L. Lagerquist, of the Lions club, is general chairman of the exercises.

BAXTER SPECIALS

Ben Wallace called at Kinney's Tuesday afternoon on business matters.

Mr. and Mrs. William Van Zant spent Saturday evening at Gustafson's.

Miss Lillian Novotney made several short visits in the neighborhood Sunday.

Avery Cass called for a few minutes at his parents home Sunday afternoon.

Two of Baxters most prominent residents have been appointed as the Republican representatives. There seems to be some mistake however, as we hear they are both much interested in the Farmer-Labor party.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Kinney were favored with a large number of visitors last Sunday. Some of these were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blunt, Miss Clara Varner and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Campbell.

Mrs. Charles Barrett and daughter, Miss Evelyn, visited Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Cass, Oct. 26.

Miss Gladys Peterson called at Mrs. Van Zant's home for a short time Thursday evening.

Charles Barrett, Sr., was busy the first of the week helping his father-in-law haul the remainder of his hay.

Interest is very keen in Baxter at present. The main issue seems to be "Who did you vote for?"

Mr. and Mrs. William Van Zant motored to Mille Lacs lake to visit relatives.

We hear that Philip Rudek and family have taken a trip to California. No doubt many others wish they could forget the cold winter ahead.

Andrew Mack was a visitor at Theodore Felver's home Sunday. Mr. Mack is busy hauling corn fodder at present.

Ed. Walters and family of Duluth, former residents of Baxter, were visitors at Novotney's and Z. Barrett's this week.

Mr. Bidwell and Mr. Van Zant are both very busy hauling straw.

James Kinney made a business trip to Brainerd Saturday.

CHARGED WITH LARCENY OF CAR

Bob Carson And George Benjamin Arraigned in Municipal Court

BOTH WAIVE EXAMINATION

Charged With Taking Earl O'Brien's Buick Car Several Weeks Ago

In municipal court Wednesday morning, Bob Carson and George Benjamin were arraigned, charged with the larceny of an automobile. Each defendant waived examination and was bound over to the district court to await the action of the grand jury.

These defendants are charged with the taking of Earl O'Brien's Buick touring car several weeks ago. They are said to have been arrested with the automobile at Wolf Point, Montana, where the Buick was held in a garage while the sheriff telegraphed to Mike Holm, secretary of state of Minnesota, to find out to whom the car belonged.

The same night that the sheriff telegraphed, Carson and Benjamin are alleged to have broken into the garage, taking the Buick and drove back east about forty miles, and then north into Canada. The sheriff, thinking that they had traveled west, wired to towns in that direction.

Carson and Benjamin were arrested at Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada, and held there until Sheriff Fred J. Reid and Chief of Police Harry O. Gaskill arrived and took them back to Brainerd. The defendants did not fight extradition from Canada, and are said to have made a clean confession of the theft of the car, from before the New Park theatre, where it was parked while the owner was attending the show. Automobile paint was found in the Buick, and the defendants are said to have stated that they had intended to repaint the car to disguise it and lessen the chances of its being identified.

Messrs Reid and Gaskill left Lethbridge on the return trip with their prisoners on last Thursday morning, and arrived in Brainerd on Monday. The distance is 1,500 miles. Some bad roads were encountered in the Bad Lands of North Dakota.

WEST TAKES ITS FOOTBALL SERIOUSLY

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Nov. 5.—Football in the midwest may not be better than the game played in the east, but it is quite certain that football is taken much more seriously in the midwest than it is in the east.

The interest that is taken in the game in the midwest is shown in the number of new stadiums that have been built in the last two years or are now in the course of construction.

The Ohio State stadium in Columbus is the biggest and finest football structure in the country, with the possible exception of the Berkeley, California bowl. No stadium in the country, however, can compare to fittings of the Ohio State structure. It has a capacity of 75,000 and it has accommodations in it for any number of other sports.

The new memorial stadium at Illinois with a capacity of 65,000 is bigger and better looking than anything in the east. It is also fitted up for track and field sports.

The new Grant park stadium in Chicago will accommodate 45,000 and it is being enlarged to take care of 65,000 that are expected at several big games next year now under negotiation. It is thought that the Army-Notre Dame game may be played there next year, as the officials of both institutions are willing to play there. The game might have been staged there this year if the stadium had been large enough to satisfy the Army.

Nebraska University also has a new stadium and one is being built at Purdue and several other universities are making plans to raise funds for construction.

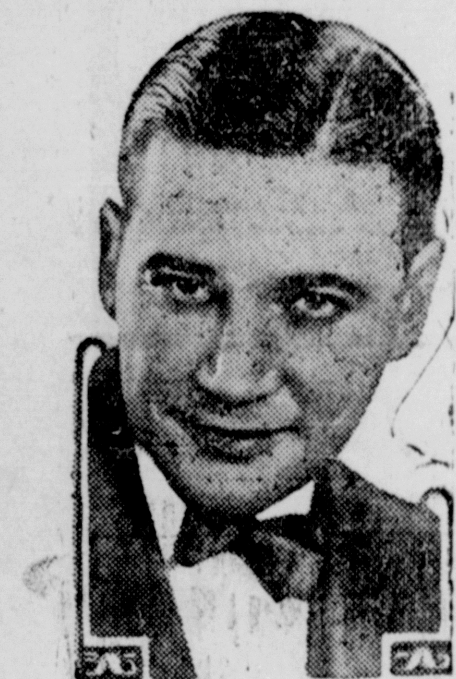

Intense local interest is registered in all the "Big Ten" teams and the members of the many smaller conferences that are numerous around the midwest. Organizations of business men take pride in their teams and go out of their way to boost them. The Michigan-Illinois game drew twelve special trains from Detroit and Ann Arbor. The cabs and coaches were all decorated with Michigan colors and even the locomotive was all trimmed up with bunting. Large crowds, of course, go to Princeton, New Haven and Cambridge for the "Big Three" games, but they aren't the enthusiastic crowds that gather for all of the important western conference games.

The enthusiasm of the public is reflected in the game itself. The brand of football in the midwest may not be as good as the eastern game. That is a matter of sectional opinion. But there is one thing sure, the western game is better to watch.

Paramount picture, which comes to the New Park on Thursday and Friday, deserves to be singled out for special and honorable mention.

To many film fans the title of this screenplay has a familiar and reminiscent sound. That's because it was adapted by James Creelman from the powerful novel of the same name by Clive Arden who had the coveted honor of having this story adjudged the prize-winner in the English book competition of last year.

Film Proves Woman's Right on Jury

The courtroom is crowded; the hundreds of spectators are tense with suppressed excitement. The judge sternly watches for any outbreak of emotion. But everything is so quiet that the dropping of a pin would be audible in every section of the immense room.

The prisoner, a mere girl hugging a baby in her arms, sits beside her mother, tremblingly waiting for the verdict that undoubtedly will spell doom, for she is charged with murder. There is a single ray of hope for her—on the jury is a woman. Perhaps she will understand.

This is the dramatic atmosphere in which Harry O. Hoyt directed "The Woman on the Jury," a First National picture which is to be the feature at the New Park tonight. But the courtroom episode is but one of the many powerful sequences which have been provided by the author, Bernard K. Burns, whose play ran for more than a year on Broadway.

Big Romance Has Thrills and Stars

With a remarkable cast, a most interesting background and a theme that reaches into the inner recesses of your heart, Victor Hugo Halperin's powerful photodrama, "When A Girl Loves" was shown for the first time locally at the Lyceum Theatre last night, and will be repeated again tonight. It is alive with thrills and enacted by a real cast of real stars, who beautifully interpreted their pantomimic roles in a manner pleasing to the audience.

While Mr. Halperin is comparatively young in point of a long line of film successes, he has one, "When A Girl Loves" that will stand comparison with any of the screen leaders of the present age and it made a big impression upon its local start.

Crook-Comedy New Character for Desmond

"I never did go in for custard pie in comedy!"

So avowed William Desmond, star of Universal's "The Breathless Moment," a crook-comedy drama, which comes to the Lyceum Theatre this Thursday and Friday.

There are several reasons for the remark, arising out of an episode in which the star's feet and the pride of the bakeshop mingle. And Bill Desmond is still looking for revenge.

FIGHT GAME APPEARS TO HAVE DROPPED INTO A SLUMP

By HENRY L. FARRELL

New York, Nov. 5.—Boxing has been in a terrible slump during the last summer season and the prospects for the indoor season are not very good, according to Tex Rickard, Madison Square Garden promoter. Business is so poor that Rickard is trying to drum up trade with a heavyweight show tonight at 50 cents to $2.

"The fighters will not fight. That's what brought on the slump," Rickard said today. "When the heavyweights are idle the whole game slows up. Every heavyweight I talked to wants to fight Dempsey. They know they can't get him and their next choice is some pushover."

"Tom Gibbons is the only fighter in the game who will take any opponent offered him. I have had his contract on my desk for months and can't get anyone to meet him."

"Jack Renault has been yelping about a match with Dempsey, but he wouldn't consider a Gibbons match. He wouldn't even fight Gene Tunney, and Tunney refuses to meet Gibbons. I have been trying to match Gibbons with some good fighter for the Christmas fund, but they all decline."

Firpo, according to Rickard, refuses to fight Gibbons, Renault or Godfrey, but he has accepted a match in Newark against Charley Weinert, a fourth round.

Benny Leonard is stagestruck and is off the fight business, although he is training to get some publicity. Pancho Villa is under a year's suspension for running out of a match with Frankie Genaro. Mike McTigue is in bad with the commission and so is Mickey Walker, the only willing champion of the whole bunch. Abe Goldstein is matched to fight Eddie Martin for the bantamweight championship, but Martin had to consent to take 5 per cent of the house to get him.

Jack Renault Gets

Montreal, Nov. 5.—Jack Renault, Canadian heavyweight, who is in line for a fight with Jack Dempsey, depends mainly on a left hand.

Renault says he learned the use of his hand from Jack Britton, veteran welterweight.

Renault uses it in much the same way Britton used to, shooting it straight to the head and body.

The effect on an opponent is that of being hit by a stick.

It is not a felling punch but a series of them bring total destruction.

if he ever finds the culprit who put that pie in his bed.

It happened during the filming of the hospital scene in the play. Desmond, playing the victim of an explosion, entered the neat cot in the hospital ward constructed on the big stage—then leaped out with a shout of mingled surprise and rage. A mass of beautiful yellow custard pie fell to his feet!

Robert Hill, the director, recovered from his surprise, calmed the angry star and started an investigation. None of the property men knew anything about it.

Captain Sheldon Is Star Player

Photograph shows James Sheldon, captain and end of the Brown university team of Providence, R. I. Sheldon is strong on defense, fast down the field, a hard tackler and not easily drawn in or put out of the play. He weighs 168, and is red headed, which may account for his fighting qualities.

Stadium at Verdun Gets
Name of "London Park"

A standard athletic stadium, with regulation rugby and association football fields, running tracks, velodrome, grandstands and clubhouse, being erected on the edge of battered Verdun, is evidence of the place which outdoor sports and athletics now occupy in French life.

"London park," as the new grounds will be known, in grateful appreciation of the fact that 350,000 francs of the amount necessary for the expense involved were subscribed in London, is soon to be officially inaugurated.

A straightaway cinder path chute of 200 meters is now completed and the plans call for a circular cinder track of 500 meters. Seating accommodations will be provided for 10,000 spectators, with additional room for 20,000 standees.

The work commenced last summer has been somewhat delayed owing to the fact that the site of the stadium is between the Tour de Champs and the Porte Chaussee, in the center of the worst shell-torn area surrounding the town, and workmen had to proceed very carefully, as their picks on many occasions turned up duds which exploded with belated fury.

Toporcer Has Splendid
Hands for an Infielder

George Toporcer's hands are uncommonly large. They resemble a shovel when he is scooping up the bouncers.

Big hands made Honus Wagner one of the surest infielders the game has ever had. They are any ball player's biggest asset.

When Toporcer jumped from an unknown sandlotter to the St. Louis Cardinals and made good, he received a flood of publicity because he wore glasses. Respected infielders in the big league are rare birds.

He made good with the Cards and held down the third-base job until Milton Stock, holdout, returned to the fold.

The youngster uses his head in trapping bouncers. He doesn't get set and let a hard-hit roller swoop over his shoulder. He figures out the ball the instant the batter hits it, and if there is a sign of it hopping he hops with it.

Sanford at Pennsylvania

Foster Sanford, Jr., son of the former Yale player and Rutgers coach, has entered Penn. The son of the ex-Yale guard is a young giant and will try for the freshman team. Like his father, he is also a lineman, and played at Kent school, in Connecticut, for the last few years. Sanford brought the boy to the university and visited Head Coach Lou Young at Franklin field.

Accommodating Churchman

Andrew Perne, English churchman, was noted for the many times he changed his creed. He was a Catholic under Henry VII, a Protestant under Edward VI, a Catholic under Mary and a Protestant under Elizabeth.

EASY TO DARKEN

YOUR GRAY HAIR

You Can Bring Back Color and Lustre With Sage Tea and Sulphur

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger.—Advt.

WEST TAKES ITS FOOTBALL SERIOUSLY

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Nov. 5.—Football in the middlewest may not be better than the game played in the east, but it is quite certain that football is taken much more seriously in the middlewest than it is in the east.

The interest that is taken in the game in the middlewest is shown in the number of new stadiums that have been built in the last two years or are now in the course of construction.

The Ohio State stadium in Columbus is the biggest and finest football structure in the country, with the possible exception of the Berkeley, California bowl. No stadium in the country, however, can compare to fittings of the Ohio State structure. It has a capacity of 75,000 and it has accommodations in it for any number of other sports.

The new memorial stadium at Illinois with a capacity of 65,000 is bigger and better looking than anything in the east. It is also fitted up for track and field sports.

The new Grant park stadium in Chicago will accommodate 45,000 and it is being enlarged to take care of 65,000 that are expected at several big games next year now under negotiation. It is thought that the Army-Notre Dame game may be played there next year, as the officials of both institutions are willing to play there. The game might have been staged there this year if the stadium had been large enough to satisfy the Army.

Nebraska University also has a new stadium and one is being built at Purdue and several other universities are making plans to raise funds for construction.

Intense local interest is registered in all the "Big Ten" teams and the members of the many smaller conferences that are numerous around the middle-west. Organizations of business men take pride in their teams and go out of their way to boost them. The Michigan-Illinois game drew twelve special trains from Detroit and Ann Arbor. The cabs and coaches were all decorated with Michigan colors and even the locomotive was all trimmed up with bunting. Large crowds, of course, go to Princeton, New Haven and Cambridge for the "Big Three" games, but they aren't the enthusiastic crowds that gather for all of the important western conference games.

The enthusiasm of the public is reflected in the game itself. The brand of football in the middlewest may not be as good as the eastern game. That is a matter of sectional opinion. But there is one thing sure, the western game is better to watch.

EASY TO DARKEN
YOUR GRAY HAIR

You Can Bring Back Color and Lustre With Sage Tea and Sulphur

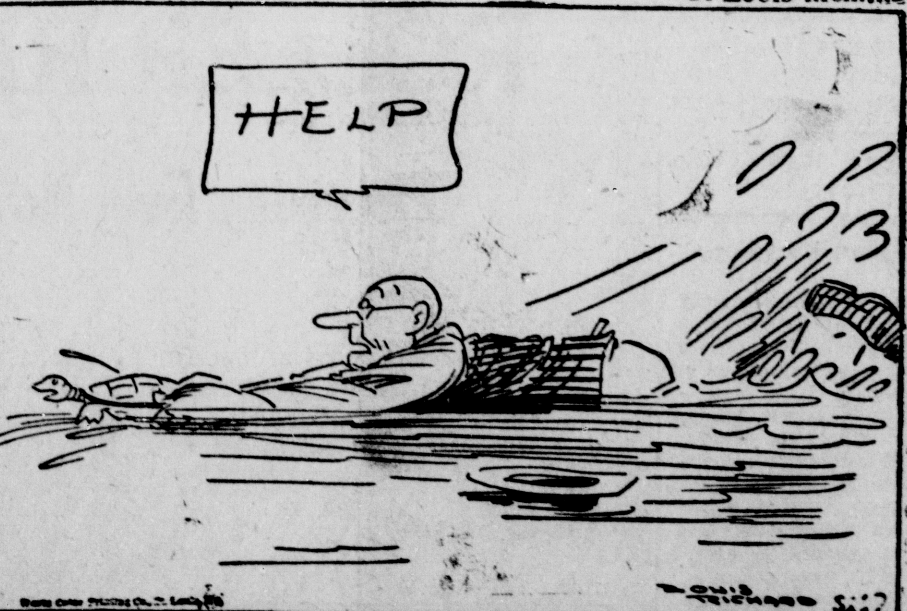

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger.—Adv't.
